CONFERENCE TO-DAY ON NEW VICTORIA BEER VOTE

BREWERS' PARLEY FAILS TO REACH DECISION; MAY WAIT UNTIL NEXT SPRING

Advocates of Beer-by-the-glass Fear Winter Plebiscite Would Not Produce Large Vote; Securing of Necessary Petition Would be Lengthy Process, Conference is Told; To Make Decision To-morrow.

British Columbia brewers went into conference with local hotel men here to-day to decide when they would launch a drive for beer-by-the-glass in this city. When the conference adjourned at noon no final decision on the matter had been reached but majority opinion seemed to favor postponing the circulation of a beer petition until after the Winter. Another meeting will be held to-morrow to decide the beer advocates' plan of action finally.

"It doesn't look to me as if we would attempt to circulate a petition now," a leading local brewer stated after the conference. "It is too near the Winter and people will not come out to vote in large numbers in the Winter. While no decision has been reached yet, it looks as if action would be postponed until after the Winter. It would take a long time to get the necessary petition signed."

PRELIMINARY PETITION

It was learned that some local hotel men are pressing strongly for the immediate circulation of a beer petition. A preliminary petition already is said to be in circulation, but it has not been signed widely yet, and is not sponsored by the hotel and brewing interests.

Before a beer plebiscite can be held beer advocates will have to secure the signatures of forty per cent. of the registered voters of the city on their petition. This is the provision contained in the new plebiscite regualtions. At the last election 13,320 Victoria electors voted on the question of sale of beer by the glass. The proposed opening of beer bars was rejected by a vote of 7,627 to 5,693. Those behind the petition therefore, will have to overcome a large unfavorable vote.

Hotel men are confident, however, that public sentiment has changed since the last election, and that Victorians are willing now to bring back the bar in this community. The chief argument which would be used in favor of beer is that its open sale will eliminate bootlegging and improve business by attracting tourists to the city, divert beer drinkers from going to Esquimalt for refreshment in the beer parlors operating there now. Esquimalt beer operators are watching developments here with great concern, as the opening of bars here probably would cut down their business seriously.

HOETZENDORF DIED IN GERMANY TO-DAY

Was Chief of Staff of the Austrian Army When Great War Began

Later Commanded Austrians on Italian Front; Record of Failures There

Vienna, Aug. 26—Field Marshal Baron Franz von Conrad Hoetzendorf, chief of staff of the Austrian army in the World War and later commander-in-chief on the Italian front, died to-day at Mergentheim, in Wurttemburg, Germany.

Franz Conrad von Hoetzendorf, born in Pensing, a suburb of Vienna, November 11, 1852, was chief of staff of the Austrian army when the World War broke out.

In the first months of the war he commanded the Austrian forces on the Russian front, but lost prestige owing to the Russian victories in the early months of the conflict. In 1915 he was credited with having planned the strategic preparations for the Austro-German attack which swept Galicia virtually clear of Russian forces. He was promoted in rank for the recapture of Lemberg in that campaign.

When Italy entered the conflict he was given command of Austria's forces on the Italian front. He served on that front until June 1918, when successive failures led to his replacement by Field Marshal von Koevess.

GIRL VICTIM OF ACCIDENT STILL IN GRAVE CONDITION

The condition of the other accident victim, Miss Jessie McGaw, is described as "fair." Seventy-seven hours after the accident Miss Phillips is still only partially conscious.

London, Aug. 26—The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, and the French Finance Minister, M. Caillaux, to-day reached an agreement in principle on the funding of the French debt to Great Britain.

It was officially announced that an agreement had been reached on the basis, in principle, of sixty-two annual payments of £12,500,000 on the sole responsibility of France, subject to an agreement being reached on various matters of detail and subject to a governing condition of proportionate equal treatment by France of her creditors.

M. Caillaux, while reserving his opinion on these proposals undertook to lay them befor his Government.

ONTARIO CABINET CHANGES FORECAST

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Toronto Evening Telegram says it has learned from most reliable sources that two members of the Ferguson Government of Ontario will be dropped before the Government goes to the country after its first term in office.

The transfer of Hon. W. F. Nickle from the post of Attorney-General to the post of chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, succeeding the late Sir Adam Beck, is forecast.

Hon. Jas. Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests, will retire for reasons "only of family significance with the Government," the newspaper says.

BARRISTERS MEET IN MANITOBA CAPITAL

Sir J. Aikins Addresses Annual Convention of Canadian Bar Association

Winnipeg, Aug. 26—In his tenth annual address before the Canadian Bar Association, which opened its convention here to-day, Sir James Aikins, president, suggested the association should protect itself against a prescriptive right, especially in his case, where he suspected the Manitoba law of ten-year limitation relating to fixtures might apply.

The members of the association, said the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, had always shown him kindness and given encouragement and effective support in his endeavor to express their wishes.

RADIUS RAMMED GOES DOWN OFF PROSPECT POINT

Heavy Weather Responsible For Collision With Freighter Anyox

Crew Saved Though Tug Goes Down in Five Minutes

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Rammed by the outbound freighter Anyox during a rainstorm the tug Radius, commanded by Captain William W. Best, sank at a point one-quarter mile west of Prospect Point at 12.30 o'clock this morning. The captain, Engineer Ray Bienheim of Vancouver, and Jack Gassford, deckhand of Victoria, comprising the entire crew of the tug, were rescued after they put off from the sinking vessel in a small boat.

The Radius sank five minutes after she was struck by the bow of the larger steamer. A barge she was towing was made fast before any further damage was done. Both the barge and the tug, the latter valued at $85,000, are owned by Captain Cates of Vancouver. The sunken craft lies in fifteen to twenty-five fathoms of water.

"No visibility at all," is the report of the lookout at Prospect Point made at the time the accident occurred.

Eighteen Months of Liberty Won by George Hannay Before Net Closed in Information was received by Provincial Police headquarters to-day of the capture of George Hannay, sought for eighteen months following his getaway from the Duncan City Police in January, 1924. Hannay was arrested by a Provincial Police officer at Squirrel Cove, Powell River, and arrived in Vancouver to-day from the North.

In January of last year Hannay was a prisoner of the Duncan city police force and held pending a charge of robbery in connection with the burglarization of the Maple Leaf Cafe there. On a pretext that he wished to use the telephone, it is alleged, he was allowed to the desk and make his getaway before anyone could overhaul him.

Hannay, it is here understood, will be brought back to Duncan city for trial on the original charge.

Elsewhere in City Shots Were Fired To-day by Striking Seamen

London, Aug. 26.—During this afternoon's session of the Cabinet at No. 10 Downing Street, when plans for the repayment of the debt to Great Britain by France were under consideration, a well-dressed man sauntered into the house, produced two half-bricks from his pockets and hurled them through a window. He was arrested.

SHOTS WERE FIRED

London, Aug. 26.—Five shots were fired this afternoon from a window of the office here of the national Sailors' and the Firemen's Union during a meeting of striking seamen which was in progress outside the building. The shots are believed to have been a protest against the union's action in opposing the present unofficial strike of British seamen.

GIRL OF FIFTEEN IS REPORTED MISSING

Parents Found Note Stating it Would be Useless to Search For Her

New Westminster, Aug. 26.—The whereabouts of Edna Wales, fifteen-year-old school girl, missing from her home since August 15, has not yet been ascertained by her parents or police despite a wide search conducted throughout the Lower Mainland and in Washington State.

It had been thought she might have headed for Seattle, where two of her sisters reside.

The girl left a note stating it would be useless to attempt to find her. She is said to have departed in her brother's clothes.

Ottawa Provides $1,000,000 For Home Bank Relief Plan

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The sum of $1,000,000 will be forwarded this afternoon or to-morrow to the liquidators of the Home Bank of Canada in Toronto for distribution among depositors with claims under $500, it was stated at the Department of Finance.

That sum, it is understood, represents the full amount of thirty-five per cent payable by the Government under the act for Home Bank relief passed at the last session of Parliament, for depositors with claims under $500, whose names are set out on a list recently received at the department from the liquidators.

The work of investigating the claims over $500 will hardly begin before the end of next month, it is said. While a draft of the procedure is to be adopted in this case, the steps necessary in the presentation of such claims have not been definitely agreed upon between Mr. Justice MacLean, president of the Exchequer Court of Canada, and the liquidators.

Mr. Justice MacLean is expected to return to Ottawa to-morrow or Friday and it is probable he will then address himself further to this phase of the matter. Sittings of the Exchequer Court, however, will occupy his attention in the western provinces for the greater part of next month; while Mr. Justice Audette of the Exchequer Court, who will also investigate these claims, is to be similarly engaged in the East in September.

TO SERVE TERM IN SAN QUENTIN PRISON; DOROTHY ELLINGSON

California Girl Who Killed Her Mother Taken to San Quentin Prison

Displayed no Emotion When Judge Announced His Decision To-day

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—Dorothy Ellingson, seventeen, who was found guilty of manslaughter Saturday by a Superior Court jury which had tried her on a charge of murder for shooting her mother, Anna M. Ellingson, to death in their home here last January, to-day was sentenced by Judge Harold Louderback to serve from one to ten years in the state penitentiary at San Quentin.

The young matricide listened attentively while Judge Louderback pronounced the verdict, but displayed no emotion. She mustered a smile when she rose to accompany the matron back to her cell.

Judge Louderback's sentence carried no recommendation for leniency.

Dorothy probably will be taken to San Quentin to-day to start serving her sentence. Under the California law she will be eligible for parole after she has served one year.

NEST OF U.S. SPEED BOATS SURPRISED TO-DAY IN COVE NEAR DISCOVERY ISLAND

Two Speed Launches, One a Super Speed Craft, and Three Men Taken in Sudden Raid at Dawn by Customs Officers on Board the Gasoline Cruiser Winamac.

Running into a nest of five boats locked together in a snug cove on the east side of Discovery Island in the grey dawn this morning the Canadian customs launch Winamac made two arrests and scattered the fleet.

The M 846 of Seattle, formerly belonging to Roy Olmstead but now in other hands is the most important capture of the two craft taken. The other is the 438M, also of Seattle.

SPEEDY CRAFT

The M846 is a $35,000 craft engined with 600-h.p. engines and capable of a flashing speed of some thirty-five knots an hour. In her cabins were approximately 170 cases of liquor, including choice brands and champagne, it is asserted.

On board the other craft were roughly fifty cases of liquor. Both cargoes were sacked and marked in the conventional manner.

On board the M846 were two men, who gave the names of John Hottel, master, and Carl Jones, engineer. On the other craft was one man, Arthur Frederick Fox. All men are from Seattle, it is believed here. They are held under detention in the immigration shed pending an immigration board to sit in due course. The two gas boats are under seizure pending an investigation on charges of illegally entering at other than a customs port.

CUSTOMS SEIZURE

Work of checking over the cargo of wet goods found on the two craft is now proceeding. The seizure was the work of Customs Officer Bittancourt, of the gasoline cruiser Winamac.

The Canadian Customs boat was cruising around the Gulf Island just before dawn. When she reached the little cove on the west side of Discovery Island five craft lay snuggled together in the quiet waters of the cove. The Winamac stole quietly into the mouth of the cove and drew alongside the craft with their sleeping crews.

Non-concurring Members Form Defence Committee

Claim Commission on Church Property is Needed

The Presbytery of Victoria at its meeting in St. Andrew's Church last evening decided to appoint a Church Defence Committee, in order to protect the rights of congregations that have decided to remain Presbyterian.

This decision arose out of a discussion regarding the application of unionists in Nanaimo for an injunction to restrain that congregation from contributing to the mission funds of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Other matters dealt with at the meeting was the report of Dr. Pidgeon in regard to the meeting of the Pan-Presbyterian council, and the urgent need for the appointment of the commission to deal with church property. Representatives were present from all the congregations in the Presbytery, in addition to a large number of visitors, including the Rev. Mr. Evans of Seattle and the Rev. D. A. Smith of Vancouver.

Presbytery is continuing in session to-day, and will close this evening with a public meeting in St. Andrew's Church, at which Dr. W. L. Clay, Rev. D. Lister and Rev. D. A. Smith will speak.

Plans Call For Building to Cost $15,000 or $20,000

The Esquimalt School Board last night definitely decided to lay plans for the erection of a High School building before the ratepayers of the municipality for their approval or otherwise. A special meeting of the board of trustees will be called within a short time to discuss and approve of plans for the proposed building, which have been drawn by Thomas D. Sedger, architect, after which a by-law will be drafted to submit to the voters.

"The matter will be in the hands of the people," said James Elrick, chairman of the board, last night. "We can make no definite statement until they make their wishes known. We realize, however, that Esquimalt needs a new High School."

SMALL COST

LIQUOR SELLING CHARGE AGAINST WAITRESS FAILS

Lum Yoke, Chinese, Victim of "Framed" Evidence, Court Decides

Little Lum Yoke, waitress in the Hong Kong Restaurant who recently faced a charge of selling liquor on the premises where she was employed, appeared to hear the verdict of the court this morning, after a delay of some weeks, and without a smile or change of countenance listened while Magistrate George Jay reviewed lengthy evidence and eventually dismissed the charge against her. The prosecution, with this case having collapsed, immediately withdrew hte charge against Lee Kim, for allowing the sale of liquor on his premises. Lee Kim is proprietor of the Hong Kong restaurant and employer of Lum Yoke.

"In view of the vast amount of conflicting evidence," said Magistrate Jay, "and the fact that the four members of the Lum family who were the star witnesses of the prosecution apparently came to Victoria for no other reason than to manufacture a case against this restaurant, I shall dismiss this case."

Stuart Henderson, who fought Lum Yoke's defence, was in the court this morning. At no time, he said during the hearing, was he in any doubt of the outcome.

THREAT OF DEATH

Magistrate Jay recalled that in the evidence Lum Yoke had told that she had been threatened with violence, and even death. He believed that she may have exaggerated the dangers, he said, but he did not doubt that the whole case was founded upon nothing but fiction.

The evidence of another waitress in the establishment, who said that the marked bank note, on which the prosecution largely relied for a conviction, had come from another source than the four Lums, as they alleged, and that it had actually been received from the occupants of booth 6 and not from the Lums in booth 10, carried weight, said the magistrate.

BACK TO WORK

Lum Yoke told the court during her hearing that it was because she worked as a waitress that her family connections, the Lums of Vancouver, had tried to bring a case against her. They wanted her to leave the restaurant, believing the work to be too menial. But she has been working there since the hearing began, and will work there in the future. She is working to support herself and her mother, and this is the one way it can be done, she says.

Stuart Henderson, her counsel, stated to-day that it was not probable that she would be molested again by the proud members of her family. Nor did he think it likely that because she continued to work in the restaurant that she would be "cut in two" and the two parts of her body thrown from her house, as she is alleged to have been threatened.

ESQUIMALT TO VOTE ON NEW HIGH SCHOOL

between $15 000 and $20,000; but the board is anticipating Government assistance in the building of the school. Plans, complete and ready for submission, have been drawn up by the selected architect, and at the special meeting of the board will be examined and put to approval. A sketch of the plans, in rough form, met with the satisfaction of members of the board last night.

HAS THREE ROOMS

The new building, as it is proposed, will have three class rooms. It will be modern and convenient in every way, and plans for a laboratory of a useful but not too pretentious nature, are expected to be submitted. It will be a stucco frame building.

Members of the school board assert that long before the new building will have outlived its days of usefulness there will have to be accommodation made for the added numbers of students. For this reason it is not thought advisable to build an expensive structure.

MUST HAVE SCHOOL

Esquimalt must have a High School. The Lampson Street School is not sufficiently large to house the public as well as the High School students of the well-populated and growing municipality, in the opinion of the school trustees. Either the High School students will have to go to Victoria for their education or they will have to rely upon their own municipality for a building.

JOIN TRUSTEES' BODY

The Esquimalt School Board will join the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, according to a decision reached by the body last night. The annual fee is $15. This is the sum called for from fourth grade schools. The Esquimalt School is placed in this category. A convention of the B.C. Association is to be held in Victoria in mid-October, and Esquimalt plans to be represented there. The trustees believe that it will be a valuable source of information to be affiliated with such a progressive organization.

In future it is not likely that children attending the manual training classes of the Lampson Street School will have to pay for their wood and other supplies with which they manufacture their models. The board last night decided that it was unfair to ask the children to do so, and provision will be made whereby free materials will be supplied.

The report of the medical officer, relative to the Lampson Street School was satisfactory in every way, save that it stated that the grounds were inadequate. This fact the board recognized, but could find no way to remedy.

NEST OF SPEED BOATS SURPRISED IN COVE NEAR DISCOVERY ISLAND

The alarm was raised and a roar of engines started up of a sudden. Customs Officer Bittancourt seized the two boats nearest to him, while two others tore off in a scud of foam. One other craft was slow in the getaway and she was overhauled, but had a satisfactory excuse, it is understood, for her presence in the cove. The names of the fleeing boats were secured.

The seizure of the M846 is the larbest haul made by the Canadian customs service in some time, as she is reputed to be one of the fastest craft on the Coast.

On one other occasion, assert customs officials, the M846 was surprised in a similar manner and sped away in a cloud of foam, startling preventive officers by her rafe turn of speed.

The 438M is a smaller and slower craft, but still heavily engined. Superb engines were found in the M846, similar in appearance to those that formerly graced the Stella, another speed boat that burned some time ago.

At present both the captured craft and their crews are held for investigation, and pending a decision on the case from the authorities at Ottawa.

DEBT PAYMENT PERIOD OVER SIXTY YEARS

newspapers here to-day said in effect there could be no Anglo-French debt settlement without the participation of the United States, which is the real arbiter of the situation here.

From this has arisen in some quarters a suggestion that there may be a tri-partite arrangement between the representatives of Great Britain, the United States and France on the debt question.

TALKED WITH HOUGHTON

The meeting at luncheon yesterday between Alanson B. Houghton, United States Ambassador, and M. Caillaux, French Finance Minister, is regarded here as an interesting feature in the French debt negotiation and an incident of the highest importance.

M. Caillaux met Mr. Houghton at a luncheon at which the United States Ambassador entertained both Right Hon. Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the French Minister.

All reports of the conversation between the three statesmen and the inferences drawn from them seemingly confirm the suggestion that the general international debt question was discussed and that nothing was done in London toward settlement of France's debt to Great Britain until it should be known what ararngements France could secure from the United States looking to the wiping off of her debt to that country.

The London Daily Mail says it understands M. Caillaux expressed the opinion to Mr. Houghton that the entire problem should be settled through a three-sided agreement. It adds Mr. Houghton was in agreement with that. M. Caillaux then, according to The Daily Mail, told Mr. Churchill the agreement between Premier Baldwin and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on the British-United States debt plan ought to be revised to that end.

The London Daily Telegraph says it has been made clear to M. Caillaux that Great Britain can not clinch any bargain with France until it is definitely known what terms the United States will require from France.

FRENCH AS INTERMEDIARIES

Emphasizing that Great Britain desires payments in like proportion with those she makes to the United States, The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic writer adds: "Mr. Churchill and M. Caillaux therefore have turned their thoughts in the direction of the United States to find out if the negotiations could be co-ordinated either through the usual diplomatic channels or a special tri-partite conversation. It is true the United States Debt Funding Commission has pronounced against any mingling of the United States with other debt funding agreements and it is improbable Washington would consent to a direct tri-partite agreement, but there might be an informal alternative, the French acting as intermediaries."

The writer adds that rumors are current that both Mr. Churchill and M. Caillaux may go to Washington. He thinks this unlikely as far as Mr. Churchill is concerned, but he suggests Great Britain might appoint an official observer at Washington who would be in close touch with the Franco-American negotiations.

Farm Writers of U.S. Are Touring Prairies

Brandon, Man., Aug. 26.—The touring party of United States agricultural editors spent a busy day here yesterday, during which they viewed thousands of acres of farm lands where harvesting operations were in full swing. They expressed themselves as much impressed with the fertility of the soil and the up-to-date manner in which the land was worked and the crops harvested.

The party, which is representative of nearly every section of the United States, went on to Regina.

F. FERNANDEZ ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Was in Limelight in Famous Drug Case in Victoria

Predicted as First Arrest in Elaborate Thief Ring

Frank Fernandez, well known in Victoria, where he faced drug charges and in Nanaimo where he was acquitted at the Assizes last year on a charge of perjury is again in the police coils.

Predicted by police officials as the first arrest in an elaborate "thief ring," which has been operating out of Vancouver for some time, and in which some of the most desperate characters in Vancouver's underworld are involved, the former longshoreman, was taken into custody in New Westminster yesterday.

He is specifically charged with being in possession of liquor stolen from the Chilliwack liquor store on August 1 last. At the time of his arrest Fernandez was already out on bail of $4,000 on a similar charge in connection with other stolen goods, and it is stated that police have uncovered sensational evidence pointing to the existence of a well organized ring with ramifications extending across the border. The ring is said to have been responsible for the numerous robberies of Government liquor stores through the Chilliwack valley.

Fernandez formerly was arrested in Victoria and charged with dealing in drugs, the outcome of which was the Royal Commission of investigation into the activities of the then head of the narcotic branch of the R.C.M.P. in Vancouver, and several of his subordinates, two of whom were arrested with Fernandez.

Since that time the members of the force involved have terminated their connection with this famous force, although they were exonerated at the enquiry.

OPIUM TRAFFIC IS DEBATED IN GENEVA

League of Nations Commission Discusses Situation in Philippine Islands

Geneva, Aug. 26—Opium smuggling into the Philippines brought the United States delegate, Mrs. Hamilton Wright, into conflict with the British delegates in the League of Nations Opium Commission yesterday. She charged a large amount of opium was sent from British North Borneo and wanted to know why the British could not stop the shipments as India had done.

Both Sir Malcolm de Livinge, Great Britain, and Sir J. Campbell, India, questioned Mrs. Wright's accuracy, and she promised to produce figures to-day.

The Indian Government informed the commission India had stopped selling opium to Persia and to the Portuguese colony of Macao, near Hongkong, because consignments shipped to those places have been used illegally.

The Indian Government stated it would follow the same policy toward other countries when there was evidence of an improper use of opium.

LARGEST DRY CITY

If another plebiscite is held here and Victoria goes wet practically all British Columbia, so far as population is concerned, will be under wet law. Vancouver already has numerous beer bars scattered all over the city, and many of the larger towns of the interior also are wet. Victoria is the largest dry city in the Province.

While opinion is divided, some beer advocates here think that this is an opportunte time to start their campaign. A little later it is feared public sentiment on the mainland will have turned so strongly against beer bars that there would be no chance of introducing them in any dry constituency. Already the enormous sale of beer by the glass in Vancouver under conditions which closely resemble those of the old pre-prohibition bar is causing public protest.

EXPECT CHURCH SUPPORT

Some hotel men here are eager to get beer licenses, as they feel it will be good for business. Others are just as firmly opposed to re-opening bars in their establishments. One hotel proprietor declared to-day that he expected support for the beer movement from local churchmen. Leading preachers, he said, had advocated open beer sale from the pulpit as method of eliminating bootleggers.

Brilliant Tennis Seen at Brookline

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 26.—Australia advanced to the semi-finals in the United States national doubles championship on the turf courts of the Longwood Cricket Club to-day, when Gerald Patterson and J. B. Hawkes defeated George M. Lott Jr. and Lucien M. Williams of Chicago, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 and 6-3.

The Americans had the Australians on the brink of defeat, winning the first two sets, but they faltered in the remaining sets and succumbed, but only after one of the most brilliant exhibitions of tennis seen on the Longwood courts this season.

Vincent Richards of New York and R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia defeated the Spanish Davis Cup team of Manuel Alonzo and Edward Flaquer, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2 and 6-3.

Marmaduke won the first heat, and in stepping the mile-and-an-eighth in 2.13 2-5, established a world's trotting record and equalled the pacing time held by Miss Czar Moko.

The new mark was equalled later in the day when Hollyrood Jessie, winner of the 2.14 trot, took the third heat.

Polly Peachtree one of the last of the progeny of Peter the Great, the famous sire which died last Fall, took the two-year-old colt race. The first heat was won by Guy Stewart easily, but he went into a break in the last two, which went to Polly Peachtree.

MAN ATTEMPTING TO RESCUE A CAT WAS ELECTROCUTED

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Frank Woods, one of the best known Toronto Humane Society inspectors, was instantly killed yesterday when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while attempting to rescue a starving cat from a pole.

Inspector Woods was almost within reach of the cat when he touched the wire and was hurled to the ground. One of his legs was almost severed. He had been with the society for about seven years.

Inspector Woods had a narrow escape from death in October 1921, when he was overcome by gas at the bottom of a fifty-foot well when saving the life of a terrier which had fallen down the well.

TO TRAIN MEN TO FARM IN CANADA

British Labor Ministry and Overseas Settlement Committee Undertakes Scheme

Limited Number of Unemployed Also to be Trained For Life in Australia

London, Aug. 26 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Ministry of Labor, in conjunction with the Overseas Settlement Committee, is establishing centres where a six-month residential course will be given to a limited number of unemployed young men for the purpose of enabling them to engage in farm work in Canada or Australia. The first one to be opened will be at Claydon, near Ipswich.

Applications from eligible young men from all parts of the country are being invited. Those selected will be given free railway passes to Claydon, but they must undertake to remain in training there for the full course of six months and proceed direct to either of the two Dominions mentioned at the end of their term at Claydon.

The applicants must be single men between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five, but suitable ex-service men up to the age of twenty-nine will be accepted. Only men who have no trade need apply. During the period of training the prospective farmers will receive five shillings a week. Their hours of work will be the usual hours on well conducted farms. They must submit to strict discipline and they will be liable to dismissal if they keep bad hours and their conduct is unsatisfactory in any way.

Before any of the young men may migrate to Canada or Australia they must be approved by a representative of the Dominion to which they wish to go.

Downs at Alta, Canada, a foothill suburb near Pasadena. Downs had left his bed on the porch to investigate an odor of smoke and was not injured by the blast.

Second Time Man Declared Dead

New York, Aug. 26.—For the second time in twelve years, Patrick Donahue, sixty-one, an inmate of St. Joseph's Home for the Aged here, declared dead yesterday. Donahue collapsed in the street near the home. Dr. Holt of the New York Hospital declared him dead and the body was taken to a house. The home officials notified Dr. Edward Donlon.

"When the body is taken away by an undertaker," Dr. Donlon told the police, "caution the undertaker not to embalm or otherwise prepare it for burial for several hours. Donahue was taken to the Fordham Morgue as dead twelve years ago and completely fooled the physicians."

According to Dr. Donlon, Donahue was picked up in the street at the time he was taken to the morgue and lay on a slab several hours. Then he suddenly came to life and walked into the attendants' room.

This is an attendance of 1,000 less than at the annual gathering last year in Toronto. When the British Association's conventions are held in the south of England the attendance is almost invariably smaller than when held in the north, but the members of the association will have no cause to regret Southampton was chosen as the meeting phece this year. There will be excursions to the New Forest and the Isle of Wight and the delegates will have an opportunity of inspecting the world's largest liners at Southampton.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE DEBATE IN BRITAIN

London, Aug. 26.—The British Trades Union Congress, at its annual meeting in Scarborough next month, will be asked by several of its branches to authorise affiliated unions to fight together when a strike occurs in which vital trade union principles are involved. A similar resolution was turned down by the Trades Union Congress at its last annual meeting.

Another resolution that will be submitted to the Congress will be to reduce the number of unions to the minimum in order to insure the eventual establishment of one big union.

The congress will be asked to institute an intensive campaign, on behalf of unionism among women workers. This proposal doubtless was made by the recent spectacle in the Yorkshire textile workers' dispute with the mill owners, in which dispute the unorganized women workers proved a heavy drag on the textile unions, which carried about fifty per cent. of the non-unionist workers on their backs.

CANADA'S TOURIST HARVEST

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Eight hundred thousand motor cars from the United States entered Canada at Niagara Falls during June, July and August, it is estimated. The influx of United States tourists into the Dominion is reported to be fifty per cent. greater than last year, particularly at Windsor.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

ELEVEN YEARS AGO to-day the first detachment of the Fifth Regiment left Victoria for service in the Empire's cause overseas. It was a comparatively small forerunner of the large army of men who followed at very frequent intervals afterwards and distinguished themselves in more than one of the war theatres. To commemorate this signal occasion the Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. is following its annual custom of selling heather on the streets of the city. It is well that this small sprig should be worn from year to year if only to remind Victorians of their great debt to their soldiers and encourage them to do their part towards making future wars impossible.

GERMANY'S NEW TARIFF

GERMANY IS BEGINning to smart under the balance of trade which Canada has built up against her since the end of the war. She has recently passed tariff regulations which will increase the duties on Canadian foodstuffs on September 1 and on manufactured articles from this country on October 1. These new imposts are classed as bargaining tariffs—a hint to Canada that if she wants to overcome their effects upon her exports, she must enter into a reciprocal arrangement. To a point it may be necessary to do so; but there are several considerations of which the Dominion Government will remind Germany before parting with the trading advantages which this country has enjoyed under the tariff which is now to give place to a higher scale. The Reichstag has conveniently forgotten that for two decades prior to 1914 German traders sold from three to eight times as much to Canadian buyers as Canadians were able to sell to consumers in Germany.

In the fiscal year of 1923 we sold Germany goods to the value of $9,906,760 and bought from her goods to the value of $3,269,420. In 1924 the export figures were $19,691,106 compared with imports amounting to $5,705,724. In the year ending last June the export figures had jumped to $27,985,631 and imports to $6,961,542. It will thus be seen that an adverse balance against us eleven years ago has been reversed in a substantial fashion. But this country still has some distance to go to balance the pre-war account against us. This record shows that since Confederation German exports to Canada exceeded a million dollars in but a single year prior to 1881. They first reached the five million mark in 1892, and ten years later exceeded ten million dollars for the first time. When war came the total was almost fifteen millions yearly, the value of German goods imported into Canada for consumption during the year that ended March 31, 1914, being $14,586,000.

During all these years Germany had rarely imported more than from one to two million dollars' worth of Canadian products. In 1912 the total of such imports first exceeded three million dollars in value, and in 1914 the amount reached the maximum, the total being $4,044,019. Then came the change after the war when Germany's imports from Canada—chiefly foodstuffs—shot up from $610,000 in 1920 to $8,215,000 in 1921. And so it has grown ever since to the figures set out above. Now comes the problem of how to maintain the advantage. The new duties will very nearly exclude our chief exports from the German market—cereals and dairy products.

CARE NECESSARY

VANCOUVER INTENDS to let the people of the Prairie Provinces know that it is not a bit of use farm hands coming to this coast after the harvesting is over with the expectation of finding relief or any other kind of work in the urban centres during the Winter months. This is a very proper precaution to take; but any municipality which sends out the warning should be extremely careful about the manner in which it is given. Vancouver proposes to placard the railway stations in grain-growing areas and supplement this course by prominent advertising in the newspapers. No more effective way of conveying the information could be found than this. But it must be remembered that travelers passing through the country, in many cases for the first time, will see these posters and advertisements and speculate upon their meaning. Anti-Canadian and anti-migration influences in other countries will hear of them and use them for their own purposes—to say that Canada is no place for the emigrant. It is foolish to imagine that this sort of thing does no harm. For that reason the phrasing of poster and advertisement should be discreet.

SHOULD BE FIXED

THE ISLAND HIGHWAY from Mill Bay northward is in an abominable condition and proper attention should be given to it at once. Contrasted with roads on the Olympic peninsula across the Strait, it presents a sorry spectacle, and the unfavorable comment on its deficiencies heard on all sides is a bad advertisement for our road system and for the enterprise of our authorities. There is no reason why the Island Highway should not be kept is as good a condition as the country roads between Port Angeles and the numerous pleasure resorts in the mountain district behind it, which are subjected to heavier traffic than has yet developed on this side. In any case there is no excuse for allowing the main artery of Vancouver Island to become a menace to those who have to use it, especially in view of the fact that it can be put in a satisfactory condition without unduly heavy expenditure.

THE SENIOR GOLFER

IN A MOMENT OF RASHness years ago some cynic said that golf was an old man's game. He scorned the idea of young men walking through meadows and occasionally swatting a diminutive white sphere. He was right of course. It was then and is now an old man's game. But it was then and is now a young man's game—a middle aged man's game as well. It is likewise played by women of all ages. It is being played by men and women of all nationalities. And the older men who play golf in the Pacific Northwest are having the time of their lives at Oak Bay this week. For the third year the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association has come to Victoria for its annual tournament. The golfers of this city welcome them and the youngest golfers who have "broken eighty" will warmly congratulate Mr. Van Tuyl who turned in a card of seventy-six yesterday. He pays no attention to the fact that he is in his sixty-first year. His medal round was the medal round of a gentleman on the threshold of the sear and yellow. But it was the score of the best young 'un.

GRETCHEN AND POILU

NEWS FROM DUESSELdorf tells us that when the French and Belgian troops turned over the Ruhr area to the Germans yesterday there were many touching scenes between young French and Belgian soldiers and their German sweethearts. Peculiar as this may seem to the older generation which has not forgotten the diabolical deeds that the war-time newspapers chronicled, there is nothing very extraordinary in yesterday's demonstrations. The great majority of the soldiers in the armies of occupation were children when war broke out and were still not old enough to shoulder a rifle or grasp the real significance and horror of the conflict in its closing stages. Their duties have been little more serious than the duties of a policeman. Their presence in German territory was dictated by a persistence of the old Prussian spirit, a refusal to accept a condition for which the Government of 1914 never bargained, now history of which the growing youth of the conquered country is obviously neither proud nor willing to repeat. Thus many of the departing troops were able to contrast what they learned of the war, and the relations which it has since produced between the countries involved, with a comparatively recent school training that must have directed their minds towards the peaceful pursuits of the world. To the youthful poilu and the Gretchen in her teens the idea of permitting themselves to become the playthings of Mars has been relegated to the background. Both will have recognized the duty of the soldier; but both, as a result of a companionship unspoiled by the rattle of musketry, will no doubt have made resolves that will one day wield their influence for peace.

He was twice Prime Minister First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Waywode of Wallachia, was slain on August 26, 1714. He acted as a secret agent of Leopold of Austria in the war, which ended with the peace of Carlowitz, while ostensibly supporting his suzerain the Sultan of Turkey. Later he was an ally of Peter the Great in a war against the Turks, with the result that he was put to death with his four sons by order of the Sultan.

LORD GEORGE SACKVILLE

(also known as Lord George Germain) English soldier, died on August 26, 1785. He served as second in command under Marlborough in Hannover, succeeding to the chief command on the latter's death. He was dismissed from the army on account of blunders committed at the battle of Minden.

He favored the French Revolution and served under Dumouriez, but became involved in the conspiracy of his chief against the republic, and was forced to join the emigres. Returning to France on the restoration of the Bourbons, he was elected king after Charles X had been expelled from the throne, and was himself deposed eighteen years later by a revolution.

TURNER PAYS BIG FINE FOR KEEPING LIQUOR FOR SALE

Magistrate Warns Another Offence Will Mean Prison; Liquor Confiscated

A fine of $1,000 for having liquor for sale on his premises was imposed on Frank Turner by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning. Pointing out it was the second conviction within two months, the magistrate stated:

"If this sort of thing continues, it will mean imprisonment without the option of a fine."

Chief of Police John Fry, in company with detectives W. Stark and J. H. Rogers, yesterday afternoon raided Turner's premises in an upstairs suite on View Street. There they seized a large quantity of liquor, including beer, whisky, rum and gin, and various paraphenalia for mixing and serving drinks. All this material, together with the liquor, teh value of which was set at a high figure, was seized and confiscated by the police.

In to-day's session of the police court Turner pleaded guilty. Chief Fry, called to the stand itemised the brands and quantity of liquor taken, which included about twenty-five bottles of rye and Scotch whisky, over a dozen bottles of gin, several bottles of rum and other liquor. There was also a quantity of beer seized, amounting to thirty-five dozen pint bottles. The whole assortment was valued at several hundred dollars.

Magistrate Jay gave Turner a severe warning, following the passing of sentence. Accused had flouted the law, he said. He had been fined and warned only a few weeks before, and had paid no heed. Another offense of the sort would mean a prison term with no option of a fine, he declared.

EFFORTS MADE TO SECURE RELEASE OF BANDITS' VICTIMS

Toronto, Aug. 26.—News of the release of Bishop Mowll, formerly of Toronto, and the eight other mission workers captured by bandits in Szechuan Province, China, is awaited by mission circles here, including several churchmen who formerly were stationed in China. Last reports were that efforts were being made to secure the freedom of the church workers.

Szechuan province, in which Bishop Mowll was serving at the time of his capture by the bandits, is the largest and most populous province of West China. It is the seat of only one Canadian mission, taht of the Methodist Church, although other Canadians are engaged there under British and United States mission boards.

GREAT MARKET CENTRE

Chengtu, the capital, is not situated in a mountainous region, as dispatches would indicate, but in the midst of a large plain. Thirty thousand farmers from the surrounding country come there to market every day, and the whole district is populous, well policed and orderly, according to returned missionaries. The statement that cBishop Mowll and his companions were captured while picnicking at Chengtu is therefore hardly to be credited. It is more likely he was Summering in the hills at a distance from the metropolis in a region far more suited to banditry.

The climate of the great Chengtu plain is stated to be 'excesively humid, as well as hot in July and August. At this season all public activity is lessened and the missionaries take everal week for an annual holiday by going to various isolated mountains and glens in the western part of the province. By such action their usefulness is conserved for the more clement and endurable Autumn and Winter seasons.

Missionaries of the United Church of Canada, which has taken over the Canadian Methodist Mission, state the impression given by dispatches has been distinctly, though unintentionally, unfair to their Anglican colleagues in suggesting that anything in the nature of a picnic occasioned the unfortunate incident.

MUCH BANDITRY

Brigandage has been prevalent in West China throughout the fourteen years since the Revolution in 1911, and any foreigner is liable to suffer from it at any time, they say, except when in the vicinity of garrisoned towns. The present Governor of the province of Szechuan is unusually strong and has hitherto had much success in checking the activity of such gentry.

The relation which the incident may bear to the international situation is not clear. Gen. Yang Sen, Military Governor of Szechuan, has ably maintained public order in his capital, Chengtu, and in all western Szechuan during the recent period of unsettlement and disorder around Chungking and other centres in eastern Szechuan. That Yang Sen is making every effort to rescue the captives and punish the offenders is the conviction of returned missionaries.

The motive of the bandits is obscure. If they are ordinary bandits ransom will be the sole purpose in view, and it may be the Toronto prelate's tibular prominence simply gave a bandit gang the impression that he could be used to extract an unusually large amount of precious metal. His British connections may operate at the present time to make his recovery difficult, as public feeling against Britain is strong.

Communists in Spain Are Busy

Madrid, Aug. 26—Recrudescence of Communist agitation in Spain became known with the publication of an official note by the Military Directorate yesterday. The statement revealed that the Communist campaign had been renewed by the smuggling into and the distribution in Spain of large quantities of seditious leaflets.

The Directorate at the same time characterized as "fantastic" and "unworthy of belief" rumors of alleged plots against the Spanish authorities.

Unity of Oak Bay With Victoria to Be Reported Upon

The City Council last night approved of steps being taken towards amalgamation of Victoria and Oak Bay, and adopted a recommendation from the Greater Victoria Committee that the Oak Bay Council be asked to join in the appointment of a special committee to bring in a report.

The personnel of this committee, if approved by Oak Bay, will be City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald, Clerk R. F. Blandy of Oak Bay, and City Solicitor C. L. Harrison, who is a resident of Oak Bay and police court prosecutor for both municipalities.

Reeve Herbert Anscomb of Oak Bay expressed interest in the city's proposal, and after pointing out the very favorable financial status of Oak Bay municipality, declared that any amalgamation proposals would necessarily have to be placed before the ratepayers prior to completion. "There will be no snap judgments or overnight deals, as far as the Oak Bay Council is concerned," he declared.

Alberta Railway Operation Schemes Being Discussed

Edmonton, Aug. 26.—What the attitude of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be toward the proposal to operate the northern railway of Alberta jointly, which was the subject of a recent conference between Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railroads, Grant Hall of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Alberta Government will be known when a letter now on the way from Montreal is received. A meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway directors was held in Montreal last Saturday, when the question was discussed, and a wire to Premier Greenfield advised that full particulars as to the decision were being given in writing.

In the meantime negotiations are continuing between the Alberta Government and the Royal Bank, and it is understood tentative suggestions have been in the direction of a settlement that may prove mutually acceptable. Whether or not such a settlement, by which the Royal Bank will likely turn over its securities in the Peace River line to the Government, will have a bearing on the co-operative operating scheme, is not yet known.

J. KEATING DIED IN WALLACE, IDAHO

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 26—John Keating, sixty-eight, wealthy Wardner miner and prospector and pioneer of the Coeur d'Alene district, died here yesterday. Keating came to Wardner forty years ago and was the original locator of the Caledonia property and owned other mining groups here. He had acquired a fortune estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 through mining operations.

Despite the fact that he had acquired riches, Keating lived in the same humble cabin at Wardner in which he resided in 1885.

PROMINENT DOCTOR DIES IN SCOTLAND

Dr. A. J. Gibson, Formerly of Victoria, Passes on

Mrs. A. J. Gibson of Fort Street has just received a cable from Scotland announcing the death of her husband, Dr. Andrew John Gibson, formerly a well known specialist in Victoria. Full details of Dr. Gibson's death have not as yet been learned but it is assumed the end came suddenly as in a letter recently received by Mrs. Gibson no mention is made of any illness.

Born in Stornoway, Scotland, Dr. Gibson was educated at Edinburgh University.

When the Boer War broke out he was on his way to South Africa for his health and on arrival there offered his services to the War Office and in consequence saw service during the campaign. On his return to England he married and with his wife went back to Africa and practiced as an eye, ear and throat specialist in Durban and then in the Transvaal.

Four years later Dr. and Mrs. Gibson returned to London where for two years he practiced his profession. Coming to Canada on a visit to relatives he decided to remain and eventually decided to settle in Victoria where for a number of years he was prominent in his profession.

At the outbreak of the war he left as captain with No. 5 Canadian Hospital Corps and was stationed at Salonika. After a short sick leave spent in Victoria he returned and saw service to the end of the war. Since then, suffering from indifferent health, he had taken duty as ship's surgeon on the Atlantic in the hope of recovery. He was on a visit to Scotland when death took place. Besides his widow their survives a daughter Miss Barbara Gibson and a son, George Gibson, also four brothers and two sisters.

Telephone Leaders Discuss Problems

Halifax, Aug. 26.—That the Telephone Association of Canada would be doing a national work if it brought about the adoption of standard methods of operation and apparatus which would make possible at some future time a universal telephone service was the point stressed today by C. F. Sise, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, at a business session of the association here.

The gross earnings per telephone for the fiscal year of 1923 were highest in the Netherlands, $61.17; in Great Britain, $58.18; in the United States $48.49; and in Canadia $43.14.

SILVER WEDDING COUPLE HONORED

Parishioners of St. Mark's Make Presentation to Mr. and Mrs. T. Hopkins

On the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding which took place on August 25 in 1900 at Gillingham Parish Church, Gillingham, Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopkins of 3301 Tennyson Avenue were tendered a social evening last night at St. Mark's Hall, Boleskine Road, by the parishioners of St. Marks and their friends.

On behalf of those assembled, the Rev. H. V. Hitchcox conveyed to the guests of honor hearty congratulations and the appreciation of the parishioners of their work in social and church affairs.

As a token of esteem the members of Mrs. Hopkins' stringed orchestra presented her with a handsome silver cake basket, while the members of the ladies' auxiliary of St. Mark's gave a beautiful Crown Derby plate.

During the evening solos were rendered by Messrs. Faithful and Saunders, violin solo by Mr. Jack Pullen and selections from the stringed orchestra, composed of Messrs. Love, Wright, Watt, J. and D. Pullen, E. and S. Stonier, J. Javan, L. Stevens, H. Hutchinson, Wilcox and the Misses Kathleen Clark and Eileen Howcroft.

In addition to the musical programme, games and dancing formed the evening's amusement. A delicious supper was served, a handsome three-tier wedding cake being in a prominent place on the supper table. Over 150 guests were present.

DISTINGUISHED V.C. HERO MARRIED THIS AFTERNOON AT ST. PAUL'S GARRISON CHURCH

Miss Blytha Copeman and Lieut.-Col. Pearkes United in Marriage at Charming Ceremony; Former Army Comrades Shower Gifts on Happy Couple.

St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt was the scene this afternoon of one of the most interesting weddings of the Summer season, when at 2.30 the Rev. T. M. Hughes of Sidney assisted by the Rev. F. C. Chapman, rector of St. Paul's, united in marriage Blytha, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. U. Copeman, of 1131 Munro Street, Esquimalt, formerly of Sidney and Lieut.-Colonel George Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., Croix de Guerre, of Winnipeg, son of Mrs. Pearkes of Sidney.

LT.-COL. GEORGE PEARKES

A profusion of Summer flowers artistically arranged by friends of the bride, adorned the chancel rail for the happy occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a picture of youthful charm in a gown of white satin charmante, fashioned in simplicity, and having a Limerick lace scarf draped over the shoulders and attached to either with brilliant buckles. A long train of eau de nil satin, covered with georgette in the same shade, hung from the shoulders and over this was draped a handsome Limerick lace veil, while over all a thin filmy veil of tulle was artistically arranged and gracefully caught to the coiffeure with a bandeaux of silver gauze and orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, Swansonia and maidenhair fern completed the bridal toilette.

Miss Betty Copeman, cousin of the bride, and Miss Hilda Pearkes of Sidney sister of the groom, were charming bridesmaids, and were dressed alike in frocks of eau de nil georgette over crepe de Chine, and wore tulle veils attached to the hair with bandeaux of green tissue. Sweet peas in pastel shades formed their bouquets. Master Douglas Newton of Calgary, in a sailor suit, acted as page.

The groom was supported by Major G. Payton of Winnipeg, while the ushers were Mr. Jack Copeman, Mr. John Hulbert of Sidney and Mr. Randle Matthews. During the signing of the register Mr. Drury Pryce accompanied by Mr. F. Holloway rendered two violin solos "Andantino" and Martini and "Rondino" by Kreisler.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 1131 Munro Street, Esquimalt where Mrs. Copeman, mother of the bride, in a two-piece suit of sand-colored flat crepe with touches of Oriental embroidery and hat en suite, and Mrs. Pearkes, mother of the groom, in a gown of navy blue crepe, with which was worn a smart hat, assisted in receiving the numerous guests. On the lawn overlooking Lone Tree Bay, and in the gardens surrounding the home, bunting and flags gave a festive appearance to the scene.

To the bride, the groom gave a silver fox stole, to the bridesmaids, platinum and diamond bar-brooches, to the best man, a silver cigarette box, and to the ushers card cases and silver match boxes, and to the page a silver souvenir spoon and box of toy soldiers. To the groom the bride gave a fur coat.

Among the many handsome wedding gifts were noticed autographed photos in silver frames of Lord and Lady Byng, an antique Sheffield dish and cover from the militia staff course officers, Winnipeg, a silver cigarette box from brother officers, and a silver meat platter from officers of the 5th Field Brigade and 11th Medium Battery.

Later, Colonel and Mrs. Pearkes left for Banff, and after spending the honeymoon in the mountains, will make their home in Winnipeg, where Lieut.-Colonel Pearkes is general staff officer for Military District No. 10. This gallant officer left Victoria as a private with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and after winning his commission, received an appointment with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles.

At Paschendale when with two other officers and an even score of men he gained a final objective despite the fact that the battalion had been wiped out and both flanks were exposed, he held till the 2nd C.M.R. Battalion was thrown in and consolidated the ground won. For this bravery he won the V.C.

MODERNIZED HAMLET PROVES A SUCCESS

Critics in London Say Jackson's Offering of Classic Gained Through Changes

London, Aug. 26.—The leading dramatic critics of London concur in declaring Sir Harry Jackson's modernized "Hamlet" which was produced last night, was an impressive success. They admit they received a shock when they saw the prince soliloquizing while toying with a cigarette, and fighting a duel in "plus fours," and seeking Ophelia, who was in a knee-length skirt, and when they saw the courtiers drinking cocktails.

But they were surprised to find how slight and unessential those surface eccentricities seemed as the play proceeded and left in their minds the sensation of a profoundly moving drama which, as compared with the traditional presentation, gained in point, in clarity and speed.

There was an occasional laugh from the audience as each new incongruous costume appeared, but there was no derision nor any outburst to hinder the action of the drama.

CHAPTER MARKS TROOPS' DEPARTURE

Regent of Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., Places Wreath on Monument

For the last ten years the members of the Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. have marked the anniversary of the departure of the First Contingent from Victoria, and have been able to augment the funds of the chapter by the sale of heather so kindly donated by Mr. George Fraser of Ucluelet.

This morning at 10.30 o'clock Mrs. McMicking, regent of the chapter, and other members, assembled at the monument erected to the memory of Victoria's heroes and placed there on a wreath of white heather bearing the inscription:

"To free the weak, to cleanse the murderous stain
Of tyrants' lust, their fair young lives they gave."

Much of the success of Heather Day is due to Mrs. Walter Burton, who for many years has convened the sale, and to her valuable assistants, among whom are the Rev. A. de B. Owen, Mesdames Phillips, Hayward, Wood, Bass, Crane, Grant, Reynolds, Rampley, W. S. Campbell, Brian Combe, Coddington, Walker, Brocklebank, A. Thompson, Gardines, Sinnott, Cummins, Madame Cassidy, the Misses Monk, Tully, Lee, Darley, Kathleen Fraser, Phyllis Rampley, Wanda Spencer, Helen Forsyth, Grant, Norma Pendray, Dorothy Geake, Thelma Laurence, Kathleen Erb, Mae Warren, Caroline Godfrey, Isobel and Jean Ormistead, Audrey Tooley, Harman, Kathleen Pellett, Gladys Dickson, Olga and Margaret Harder, and Miss Leighton and members of the Lady Douglas company of Girl Guides.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27

Although this day's sidereal operations point to certain obstacles or delays overcome and some financial aspects look encouraging, yet on the whole conditions may not be construed as satisfactory. A tendency to rash and impetuous moves, attended by a disposition to waywardness and ill-temper, may combine to nullify favorable auguries. Those in the emploment of others are warned to be careful not to offend those over them lest they put their positions in jeopardy. It is urged that litigation be postponed.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of contradictions. Although there are auguries for some favorable turn in finances, and there may be a breaking away of an obstruction yet law, quarrels and impetuosity may be responsible for difficult situations. Those in the employment of others are enjoined to safeguard their positions. Personal affairs should be happier. A child born on this day may be disposed to be headstrong, impulsive and quarrelsome, and these may militate against its success in business or employment.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER IN TERMINAL CITY

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—On a speaking tour of Canada in the interests of the aims of the League of Nations Society, Senator Sir George E. Foster arrived here from the East this morning.

He was met by a number of friends, who had to look twice at the Canadian orator to be sure of his identity, for the spread of beard which had become familiar, has been trimmed to a goatee. Sir George remarked he had decided he had been carrying too much baggage.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Stickle Burrs

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis)

"Come on!" called Skipper to Nipper.

"Where?" asked Nipper of Skipper.

"Down to the frog pond," answered Skipper. "Bully and Bawley Notail are going to have a race and we'll have fun watching them. The frog boys are good swimmers."

"I know how we can have a lot more fun," spoke Nipper, trying to twinkle his pink nose as he had seen Uncle Wiggily do his. "I know how we can have a lot of fun."

"How?" asked his brother, and the two little rabbit boys stood up on their hind legs in the deep, green grass and clover, nibbling a leaf now and then. "How can we have fun?"

"We'll go down by the frog pond and watch Bully and Bawly swim and dive," agreed Nipper. "Daddycums Uncle Wiggily is also going, for I heard him tell Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. And after we have watched Bully and Bawly, I'll throw big rocks in the water. It will make a splash. Then you and I will holler like anything, and Uncle Wiggily will think we have fallen in. He'll come hopping up to save us and when he sees us safely sitting on the bank we'll laugh at him!"

"Oh, that's a good trick!" chuckled Skipper. "We'll do it."

So the rabbit boys hopped down to the edge of the pond to watch the frog boys swim. The edge of the pond was grown thick with tall grass, sweet flag and cat-tail rushes, so it was no wonder Uncle Wiggily did not at first see the two little rabbit chaps, who were some of the forty 'leven bunnies which the old gentleman had taken to live with him.

"Well, now, boys, let's see which of you is the better swimmer," said Uncle Wiggily to Bully and Bawly as the frogs stood on a log, ready to jump into the water.

"I'm better than Bully!" croaked Bawly.

"I'm better than Bawly!" croaked Bully.

And before they could splash in there was a rustling noise in the cat-tail rushes and Uncle Wiggily cried:

"Is that the Fuzzy Fox?"

"No," answered Uncle Butter, the goat, who had also come to see the swimming race, "that was Skipper and Nipper, two of your little rabbits. They are over in the tall grass."

"That's all right—I'm glad they are here," said Uncle Wiggily. Then Bully and Bawly splashed in and it was very exciting to see them race. First Bully would seem to be winning, and then it would be Bawly. But it ended with Bully coming in first.

Then, when Uncle Wiggily was telling the frogs what wonderful swimmers they were, all of a sudden there sounded a loud splash, and a voice cried: "Oh! Oh! Oh!"

"Skipper and Nipper!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "They went too near the edge of the pond and fell in! I'm coming, boys! I'll save you!" he exclaimed. But when he pushed his way through the tall rushes he saw Skipper and Nipper safe on the bank. They had tossed a stone in to make the splash. And they were just going to laugh at the way in which they had fooled Uncle Wiggily when he began to laugh at them.

"What's the matter?" asked Skipper.

"Why you two are all covered with stickle burrs!" laughed the bunny. "You have been jumping around in the bushes and your fur is covered with burrs! Oh, what a time you'll have pulling them out!"

And Skipper and Nipper had a dreadful time! The burrs had stuck and tangled in their fur when they looked for a stone to splash in the water and fool Mr. Longears.

But Uncle Wiggily was kind. He helped the little bunnies pick the burrs out of their fur, and he didn't pull their hair any more than he was forced to. And soon along flew the baby robins, whom Uncle Wiggily had taught to catch its own bugs and worms. The baby robin helped pull the stickle burrs from the fur of the little bunnies, and soon they were smooth again.

"We're sorry we tried to fool you, Daddycums," they cried.

"That's all right," laughed Mr. Longears. "I'll forgive you!" And if the iceman doesn't slip on the kitchen oilcloth and make a funny face for the clock to laugh at, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sour grass.

The Washable Vest or Gilet Gives Attractive Touch to Late Summer Frocks

The new deep V neckline that has already become familiar to most women interested in clothes, sometimes requires a little inset of lace or lingerie—the self-same trifle that our grandmothers called a modesty piece. Jumpers and sweaters of surplice neckline frequently need some such piece of lingerie at the front. Moreover, this accessory often gives just the light, soft touch that is needed to relieve the severity of the frock.

In modern parlance, of course, these little "modesty pieces" are all vests, though you may prefer the French "gilet" for the more elaborate sort. Sometimes they extend upward to cover the neck, terminating in high collars, and not infrequently they have cuffs to match.

One of the objections that women often raise to this fashion of wearing washable vests of this sort is that they so quickly show the soil. To other women, the very fact that they do leads them to wish to wear something washable next their skin. Of course, they owe more than half their charm to being spotlessly clean, and in some of our cities where air is laden with smoke and dust it would be best never to wear one of the pieces a second day without having it washed fresh. If your vests are of the simpler sort, merely consisting of a straight piece to set in the deep V or oval neckline, then the task of washing and ironing them is simple. If you choose a frock that calls for accessories of this sort for late Summer or Autumn, for school, office or wear about town then you should have at least seven of these vests. Even if you do them yourself it is much better to do a number at a time.

One method of making the simpler little modesty pieces for jumper or frock or surplice sweater is to start with a handkerchief. You may get one of the vividly printed handkerchiefs in colors to go with the jumper in question or you may buy quite a simple hemstitched handkerchief and decorate it with lace or embroidery stitching as desired. If the handkerchief is not too large it may be left intact, being merely tacked into position at the desired place. If only a small modesty piece is needed then one handkerchief sometimes make two vests.

Censorship of motion pictures is tending to force the screen drama down to a level of mediocrity, Milton Sills, First National film star, declared recently in addressing the Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays at their annual convention in Indianapolis, where he was a guest of honor.

Sills is appearing this week at the Capitol Theatre as the star in "The Making of O'Malley," a screen adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's recent Red Book magazine story of the same title.

The Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays is an organization of women who are opposed to censorship, but who indorse photoplays which they think should be seen by the men, women and children of their state. They will kill off pictures that they think are not fit to be seen by utter lack of publicity. Thus far they have defeated state censorship in Indiana.

"Fancy a painter forced to wipe five-sixths of his colors from his palette and then be asked to paint. That is the situation of the cinema story-teller. His materials are the facts and events of life; five-sixths of these he is forbidden to use."

Sills, who has just been elevated to stardom by First National, will appear in his initial stellar role in "The Making of O'Malley" at the Capitol Theatre this week. His characterization is that of a student "cop" on the New York police force.

Dorothy Mackaill, last seen in "Chickie," is his leading woman, playing the part of a young society girl who falls in love with the "cop" because of his sheer awkwardness and good nature.

STAR IN COLUMBIA PICTURE DOES SOME AUTOMOBILE STUNTS

In "The Hottentot," Douglas MacLean rode a horse in a ride that would make Earl Sande, the premier American jockey, look like a novice. In "Going Up," the picture star shot through the air like a meteor and made Eddie Rickenbacker, the celebrater flyer, weep with delight at his flying. In his newest screen comedy, "The Yankee Consul," suggested by the famous musical comedy by the late Henry Blossom Jr. and Alfred Robyn, MacLean goes his speed stunts of other films one better by a wild, reckless and daring ride in a machine down a steep incline, the car having no brakes and the driver forced to depend on a prayer for his safe arrival physically intact at the bottom.

MacLean goes so fast that he passes the car ahead in jig time and soon finds himself shooting around abrupt curves and his speed increasing so that he finds the best thing for himself and the car is keep his seat and trust to luck that they both reach the level lands below at the same time.

This ride is just one of the tremendously funny things that MacLean does in this picture, which is showing at the Columbia Theatre.

McMULLIN VERDICT IN WINDSOR, ONT.

Coroner's Jury Says Mrs. Arthur Janisse or Husband Fired Fatal Shot

Youth Who Lost Life Was Battery Service Station Proprietor

Windsor, Ont. Aug. 26.—That Clayton McMullin, young battery service station proprietor here, met his death as a result of the passage through his heart of a bullet fired from a revolver either in the hands of Mrs. Ruth Janisse of her husband, Arthur Janissee, was the finding of the coroner's jury yesterday.

Mrs. Janisse is still in a hospital. She may not leave that institution until the prosecution decides upon the date for the preliminary hearing, the crown attorney said.

BRITISH FREIGHTER RAN CLEAN OUT OF LUCK IN FIRST TRIP TO B.C. COAST

Lady Luck Turned an Icy Shoulder to the Harassed Crew of the Ss. Harpagus, While Bunker Fires, Successive Gales and General Misfortune Crowd Thick and Fast in 15,000-mile Voyage.

Turning an icy shoulder where before her smiles had played in bounty Lady Luck walked clean off the British freighter Harpagus on her first voyage in North Pacific waters, leaving, moon-like, a double chill behind.

One week out from Hull, England, where she cleared on July 11, the Harpagus developed fire in her bunkers. The fire proved of stubborn growth and the entire ship's company plied hose and shovel for many weary days and nights on end before it was under control. It was not until her arrival at Buenos Ayres that the fire was out.

While fighting flames in her bunkers the Harpagus ran into a stiff gale in the Bay of Biscay which swept every ventilator off the ship. Her cargo for Buenos Ayres was 6,000 tons of Yorkshire coal and 500 tons of general.

"Luck will turn," thought her crew and redoubled their energies in fighting the fire in an atmosphere thick with fumes that no wind would carry away.

At Buenos Ayres the Harpagus put off all her cargo, and proceeded, light ship, through the Straits of Magellan and up the coast of Chile. From Cape Virgins to Cape Pillar she sailed, anchoring at Port Famine and the Field Anchorage at Glacier Bay en route. At the latter place the cold was intense.

INTO FIVE GALES

Rounding Cape Pillar on the western end of the Straits the Harpagus stood up the coast of Chile for Leta. In the next six days she weathered five separate and distinct gales. Twice in that time she hove to, unable to proceed, while seas pounded down on her after decks and swept everything movable into the ocean.

Starting on the morning of July 20 the gales ran their course with an average of six hours' intermission between each storm. It was while alternately dancing like a cork on top of the raging seas and pounding down into the trough with sickening force the Harpagus sustained a buffeting that loosened her bilge keel on the starboard side.

At Leta at last the Harpagus replenished her bunkers with the soft coal of Chile. It was Chief Engineer A. E. Cripps' first experience with this type of fuel. Three days out from Leta and bound for Victoria her fires bit into the Chile coal. Flames roared up her stack and shot from twenty to thirty feet high in the air above the top of the stack.

Her paint reeled off in strips and her deck works took on inky black hue, as if in sympathy with the harassed crew in their unusual chain of mishaps. Like a phanthom ship she staggered on in the night, a column of living flame belching far out from her stack.

Completing a voyage of 15,196 miles the Harpagus dropped anchor in Esquimalt Harbor on Monday night. She limped into drydock next day and ship repair gangs that swarmed over her sides marvelled at the blistered funnel and blackened rigging. Rivets and paint in liberal quantities, however, undid much of the damage caused by her turbulent voyage and it was a happier ship's company that sailed this morning for New Westminster where the Harpagus will load lumber before shifting to Vancouver to complete her cargo for New York.

After that her crew hope to go home. Many of them have been a year away from their families now. While here they busied themselves in hunting for a thoroughly experienced mascot, one that would propitiate Lady Luck and win back her smiles before the Harpagus again encounters the soft coal of Chile and the gales off Cape Pillar.

The Harpagus is a well found freighter of some 7,500 tons; 401 feet in length; of 53 foot beam and 26 feet moulded depth. She was launched eight years ago from the Southwick, Sunderland, yards of William Pickersgill & Sons Limited. Her master is J. E. Taylor, and she carries two mates, R. W. Brundle and P. H. Arthur. She is owned by C. and J. Harrison of London.

If swastikas, rabbit's foot, four-leafed clovers, wishing bones and other genuine luck providers can do it, her crew is going to have a fine voyage back to U.K. points.

Western Stories, Mystery Thrills Features To-day's Book Demand

IN the great closed spaces of the East, where the untamed taxicabs roam the endless expanse of boulevard, where men are salesmen and women are feminists, there seems to be no end to the demand for more and wilder western tales.

For the most part the hackneyed and unvarying plots and scenes, the poor quality of writing and the complete lack of any research into either character or history upon the part of the authors combine to bring them under the general heading of "blah."

But one or two there are who take as their plot background some of the highly colorful and glamorous incidents with which the history of the West is overflowing, and build upon solid sands.

For such qualities this Surveyor has for some time been a bit partial toward Hal G. Evarts, who not only is a fictioneer but has done some splendid animal sketches and outdoorsy articles.

His latest book is "Spanish Acres" (Little, Brown Co.) and has to do with a curse pronounced by the Paseo Indians upon all who dwell in a certain section of Texas from which they had been banished. The situation is created by the Mexican cession of the great fertile valleys to the United States and the subsequent grabbings under the government registration law, during which the Indians were frozen out.

Combined with the elements of the eerie are thrilling and often accurate pictures of greedy types and feverish struggles, done in a style which, if not literary, is at least good journalism.

Some other tales of the "open spaces" include:

"Troubled Waters," by William MacLeod Raine, soon to be published by Doubleday, Page, which has to do with the struggle for the open range between cattlemen and the invading sheepmen.

"The Maid of the Mountain" (Scribners), by Jackson Gregory, which tells of a girl who flees from an unwelcome marriage and, finding solace in the woods, also finds herself suspected of a murder mystery.

"The Bandit of Hell's Bend" (McClurg) finds Edgar Rive Burroughs apparently tired of "monkey business" and deserting Tarzan for the good-humored company of outdoor men of the Northwest.

"The Snow Patrol" (Maculey), by Harry Sinclair Drago, opens something like this: "You'll keep on and on, Simpson, and then some day I'll have to kill you—" You know the rest.

PROBABLY even more popular than "westerns" and, on the whole, much better done are the detective and mystery tales.

And no one to-day does these better than Mary Roberts Rinehart. What is more, Mrs. Rinehart writes with style and color and intelligence.

Mary Roberts Rinehart

(Doran). In the vernacular, it "has everything." There is the cultured and humorous professor who records the tale; his wife, with a weird clairvoyant "sixth sense," the old country estate and its haunted history; the series of unexplained murders and near-murders; the spiritualistic intrusions; the caballistic sign; the slaughter of a herd of sheep in a mysterious manner—enough to make up a dozen of the usually loose-woven mystery tales.

Anticipating the sure-fire "best seller" value, Doran announces the modest printing of 100,000 copies as the first edition. It will sell this and far more—deservedly. Far and away the best spine disturber in many a day and easily Mrs. Rinehart's best.

THROUGHOUT the ages dragons have wriggled through folk lore and myth, and seem never to have lost their bugaboolsh popularity. Their place in the field of terror has no equal, and is not confined to any one people. On the contrary few races of the earth but have some dragon tales and traditions.

These have been collected for the latest of Dutton's excellent and provocative "To-day and Tomorrow" series under the title of "Perseus, or Of Dragons," by H. F. Scott Stokes, M.A.

Prof. Stokes does not stop with the dragons of the ancients but reminds us that to-day we have "dragons" which must not be overlooked.

"They are bigotry, cant and respectability," he says in his preface. "Respectability is the worst, for it is a plausible substitute for better things. It is curious to note that the devil is historically associated with knowledge and not with ignorance."

Vancouver Island Egg-Laying Contest

Year 2—Weekly Report. No. 42, Week Ending August 21, 1925

BRITISH SEAMEN JOIN IN STRIKE TO SOME EXTENT

Passenger Liners Getting Away With Little Delay, so Far

London, Aug. 26.—While dispatches from several Australian ports say the strike of British seamen there continues to spread, and the crew of a steamer at Durban, South Africa, has walked out, the movement is making little headway in Great Britain.

London, Liverpool and Southampton have been the ports chiefly affected here, but at none of these places is the situation serious. The sailings of the White Star liners Doric and Canopic from Liverpool have been somewhat delayed. The Cunarder Scythia and some of the other boats, however, are finding no difficulty in getting crews.

The strike committee says the Minnewaska of the Atlantic Transport Company and several other liners are held up in London, but elsewhere it is stated that sailings are only being briefly delayed. Seamen meeting at Cardiff have decided to join the strike.

PROGRESS OF B.C. NORTH SURPRISES LANDS MINISTER

Prince Rupert Country Making Rapid Strides; Seeking Power Now

Development of British Columbia's north country appears amazing to anyone who has not visited these districts lately, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, declared on his return from Prince Rupert to-day.

"The growth of the North does not seem surprising to the people living there because it has been gradual and they have not noticed it much," said Mr. Pattullo, who represents Prince Rupert in the Provincial Legislature. "I had not been in Rupert for some time and when I saw the activity there on my arrival I was astounded. Travel through the port is enormous now. All boats and trains are crowded."

Power development is the big objective of the Prince Rupert people, he stated. Prince Rupert, he said, has adequate transportational facilities and rich natural resources. Now it needs only power to become an important manufacturing centre. Already the citizens are discussing plans for utilizing some of the waterfalls in the vicinity of their city to secure power for industrial use, he said.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CUT IN P.G.E. CHARGES WOULD RAISE DEFICIT

Settlers Demand For Freight Reduction Would Raise Taxpayers' Cost

Oliver Defends Present Rates, Asserting They do Not Retard Development

Settlers along the Pacific Great Eastern Railway are uniting now in a demand for lower freight rates on the Government-owned line, but if they succeed in their campaign the taxpayers of British Columbia will have to carry an increased railway deficit.

This, in brief, was the warning issued by Premier Oliver to-day when he read of attempts now being made to persuade the Legislature that lower P.G.E. rates are needed to develop interior British Columbia.

"It should be remembered," said the Premier, "that it costs the Province from $2.50 to $3.00 for every dollar it earns on the P.G.E. A reduction in freight rates is not going to increase the railway's earnings by increasing its freight because an increased volume of tonnage is not available. The present rates are as nothing compared with the transportation costs which the settlers of the interior had to pay before the railway was built.

"If the rates are reduced the Legislature will have to vote money to carry the added deficit. We are already paying out of the public treasury for interest on the huge P.G.E. borrowings and also for current deficits on operations. The P.G.E. is not the C.P.R., which has received huge subsidizies from the Dominion. I do not believe that the present rates on the P.G.E., although they are higher than on private lines, are interfering with development of the interior materially."

NEW TARIFF RULES UNDER DISCUSSION

Canadian Government Corresponding With Australia Regarding Preference

Seventy-five Per Cent Empire Labor and Materials Required

Ottawa, Aug. 26—Correspondence, it is understood, is passing between the Canadian and Australian Governments in regard to the Australian regulation which, with exceptions, provides that before imports entering Australia are entitled to the preferential tariff, they must be of seventy-five per cent. Empire material and labor.

The old regulation, which applied generally throughout the Empire, including Canada, was twenty-five per cent.

CAUSE OF HITCH

It was the adoption of this new seventy-five per cent. regulation wrich caused a hitch in the negotiations between Canada and Australia for a trade treaty. The treaty had been concluded and passed by the Commonwealth Parliament of Australia when by Order-in-Council the Australian Government adopted the new regulations. Eventually a new treaty was drafted and submitted to the Canadian Parliament and passed in the last days of the session. It has still to be passed by the Commonwealth Parliament, however, before it can become effective.

EXCEPTIONS LISTED

The seventy-five per cent. regulation is highly complicated and contains important exceptions. Under one of these exceptions, it is stated, Canadian automobile chassies, when the new treaty becomes effective, will be entitled to the preferential tariff in Australia even if only twenty-five per cent. Empire, that is, Canadian labor and materials are used. Recent advices indicated there was a proposal to modify the regulation, although details are lacking. It is assumed, however, the idea is to allow the preference according to the percentage of Empire labor and materials contained in the article imported. Information on this point is being sought.

LAND AUCTION IS EXPECTED TO PROVE CIVIC MILESTONE

City Hall Confident of Big Results From Realty Revival

Confident that to-morrow's auction sale of city owned lands will prove the turning point in the public attitude towards Victoria realty, Mayor Pendray and a majority of the City Council are awaiting the results of the sale with undisguised interest.

While the return of the 150 properties to the taxable roll is one of the prime reasons for the sale, it is pointed out that the success of the sale, with prices in accord with market values, will return a large sum to the city treasury. Land sale revenues are earmarked to strengthen the city's sinking funds.

The sale will be opened by Auctioneer C. S. Austin at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, opposite the Belleville Street entrance to the Crystal Garden.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 26.—The district attorney's office last night announced it had obtained a confession from M. W. Downs, brother of the suspended counselman, Charles Downs, to the effect that he himself had placed the dynamite which early yesterday damaged his suburban home at Alta Canada, and that he had done it in hope of gaining public sympathy for his brother, who is under indictment on a bribe acceptance charge.

TWO ALPINE GUIDES LOST THEIR LIVES

Rush of Water Caused Them to Fall; Eight Climbers Imprisoned

Pola, Italy, Aug. 26.—Two Alpine guides were killed yesterday and eight members of the Alpine Society of the Julian Alps were entrapped in "The Grotto," near Pinguente. The accident was due to a sudden rush of water. The guides fell to the bottom of the cavern and were instantly killed.

Relief crews were sent out under the leadership of the president of the Alpine Society and started a search for the missing men when they did not return from their visit to "the Grotto."

On reaching the scene the rescue party heard their shouts answered by the men inside the cavern and efforts are being made to release them to-day.

SEARCHERS FIND CRIME EVIDENCE

Blood Stained Sheets May Help Solve Murder Mystery

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 26. — The finding of blood-stained sheets and the torn out lining of a traveling bag and manufacturers' tags stuffed in a discarded barrel was reported early to-day by searchers combing the El Corrito marshes for additional evidence further to establish the murder of young woman believed to be Mrs. Bessie Loren, Oakland nurse and divorcee.

These were nearly a mile from the spot where earlier in the week were found two outer sections of a black leather traveling bag and portions of a woman's head.

MAN HELD IN FLORIDA FOR PRAIRIE POLICE

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 26.—John H. Reid who police say is an international confidence man and swindler sought by officials of Saskatchewan, was arrested here late to-day by detectives, and was ordered held for instructions from Canadian authorities.

Reid is charged with promoting organization of a fake wheat belt packing company at Saskatoon more than a year ago, and with getting away with $60,000. The charges against him are said to be embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretences.

TWO RIOTERS WERE KILLED IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Aug. 26.—Chinese police yesterday killed two and wounded four of a mob of dock workers at the Kiangnan dock in Chinese territory. The mob was menacing the police station, seeking to effect the release of companions who had been arrested.

Four of the besiegers were wounded. The workmen held by the police had been arrested for assaulting a coolie. The crowd gathered about the police station numbered about 1,500. The first efforts of the police to disperse the gathering were greeted with cries of derision. Shots fired into the air failed to intimidate the dockworkers, whereupon the police turned their guns against their front ranks. The remainder of the demonstrators fled.

Vancouver, Aug. 26—Seeking to create a record for transcontinental amateur radio transmission, greetings from citizens of the city of Vancouver to the city of Halifax will be sent by the British Columbia Amateur Radio Association on September 3. The Radio Relay League will co-operate with the local association.

SCIENTIST FINDS JONAH COULD HAVE LIVED IN WHALE

Air Chamber Where Mammal Stores Big Objects Has Air For Three Days

Newport, News, Va., Aug. 26.—Comes now a man of science to defend the Fundamentalist interpretation of the Bible by declaring that the famous story of Jonah and the whale is just as broad as it is long.

Critics of Bibilical accuracy have long pounced on this story as a fine account of something that never took place, and couldn't.

The whale's gullet, they have pointed out, is so small that even a grossly underfed Jonah could never have passed down it for a three-day sojourn in the monster's stomach.

But Dr. Ransom Harvy, member of the faculty of William and Mary College, rises to defend the old story by declaring that, while Jonah undoubtedly never gained access to the whale's stomach, it would have been a simple matter for the whale to engulf him and carry him about, alive and unharmed, for three days.

The interest aroused by the recent Tennessee evolution trial led Dr. Harvy to make this explanation:

"The whale has a large mouth and a small gullet, guarded by narrow plates of whalebone," he says. "Through this throat only the smallest animalcules can pass. But if the whale gets a larger fish into his mouth he tucks it away into the air chamber in which he stores a surplus of air for use while diving.

"This chamber is somewhat similar to the sinus in human. It is fourteen feet long by seven feet wide in a large whale, and in it a man might live for several days.

"A dog was lost overboard by a whaler in the Behring sea once, and was found alive in the air chamber of a whale captured seven days later.

"In the event that a whale does take on an object too large to swallow or to expel through the nostril, he must keep it in that air chamber until he can swim to shallow water and get his head above the surface. Then he can easily get rid of it.

"If Jonah were thrown overboard and were swimming it is quite possible that a whale came along with his mouth open and gulped him in. He would immediately have been thrust up in that air chamber, where there would be air for him to live on even longer than three days. And it is no task for a man to go three days without food.

"This story may be a parable or it may be an account of a read happening, but it must be admitted, in the light of this information, that it is not so absurd as to be used to disprove the Bible narrative. It seems rather to me that it shows that the writer of the book of Jonah had some source of revelation that made him better informed than some of his readers of this civilized age."

TEACH CONVICTS INDUSTRY, PLAN OF PRISON HEAD

Washington, Aug. 26.—Teach convicts the habits of industry.

Give them a chance to earn some money—accumulate a "stake" to fall back on when they are released.

Train them to earn their own living honestly after they leave the "pen."

This is the programme of Luther C. White, new U.S. superintendent of prisons.

White, to carry out his programme, will ask Congress at its next session to approve the equipment of all federal prisons with large modern manufacturing plants.

Establishments of such plants, he stated, will accomplish the three ends which he has in view and will be the greatest reformative measure that could possibly be taken.

WORK HABIT IMPORTANT

"Getting a man into the habit of working is all important," he said.

"Once he forms the habit it is very apt to stick—and work will keep almost anyone out of trouble.

"Also, he should be paid for the work he does while in the penitentiary.

"This will give him a little money to send his dependents, and it will give him something to go on after he gets out until he finds a job.

"Even if it isn't much—perhaps only fifty dollars—he won't have to turn immediately to his old gang for aid.

Getting out of prison with only the five dollars presented to him by his kind Uncle Sam and being forced to turn to his old criminal pals for help, has sent many a man back behind the bars.

"Teaching a man to earn his living honestly by training him to work with up-to-date machinery is another great factor in keeping him out of future trouble.

"If a man is equipped to obtain and hold a good job the chances are in favor of his doing it.

"But to do all this we must have modern manufacturing facilities in our prisons. We have some now, but not nearly enough. They employ only a small percentage of the prisoners.

"That is why I am going to make my appeal to Congress.

"If I am successful I will feel that a great step has been taken toward curing our prison ills."

PRISONS TOO CROWDED

White characterized federal prison conditions as being satisfactory on the whole, except for a tendency toward overcrowding.

As a result the government is forced to send some of its prisoners to state prisons.

"This is no easy thing to do," he said, "as most of the state prisons are crowded. Also, some of them do not come up to our requirements and we do not want to send our prisoners there. Others come up to our standards, but don't want our prisoners!"

White ascribed present crowded federal penitentiary conditions in part to prohibition, but said that this was not as great a cause as he had at first imagined.

"I recently made a careful survey," he said, "and found that a trifle less than fifteen per cent of our prisoners are serving time for dry law violations. Considering the number of arrests and convictions this is very small.

"The reason is that we cannot take a man whose sentence is less than a year and a day. The majority of dry law violations are given shorter terms and are therefore sent to state institutions.

MANY HELD ON DRUG CASES

"A strange twist to this is that a man with a ten months' sentence has more actual time to serve than a man sentenced to a year and a day. The year and a day man gets seventy-two days off for good behaviour, while the ten months' man has to serve his sentence out."

White said that more convicts are doing time in federal prisons for violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act than any other cause. One-third of the inmates of Leavenworth and Atlanta and forty-three per cent. of those confined in McNeill's Island penitentiary are drug law violators, he declared.

Seattle Senior Has A Remarkable Round

F. V. Van Tuyl Wins Qualifying Round in Third Annual Championship of S.N.W.G.A. at Victoria Golf Club by Shooting 76, Four Strokes Better Than His Nearest Competitor; Seattle Players do Well in All Classes With Victoria and Vancouver Well Represented

F. V. Van Tuyl, of Seattle, caused something of a surprise yesterday in the qualifying round of the third annual championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association when he completed his round at the Victoria Golf Club in 76. His superb work brought him the medalist honors as well as the palm for shooting the best round in the history of the association.

Van Tuyl, who belongs to the "B" Class of seniors, which means that he is between sixty and sixty-five years of age, accomplished something which few of the best amateur players in the Pacific Northwest do very often. "Seventy-sixes" or better are hard to get on the tricky Oak Bay course. His score card showed that he equalled par on ten holes and scored two "birdies."

In the first nine holes Van Tuyl was in brilliant form. He reeled off the first five holes in par. His putter failed him on the next two, but he pulled off par "threes" on the eighth and ninth. Coming home he shot par on the tenth, but "sizes" greeted him on the next two holes. The thirteenth found him doing par again. On the sixteenth hole, 308 yards, Van Tuyl was down in three for a "birdie," while on the long seventeenth, 433 yards, he sunk a long putt for a four, which was one under par. He completed his round with a par four on the eighteenth.

His card was as follows:

Out—5 3 4 4 4 6 5 3 3—37.

BEST FOR SENIORS

Van Tuyl's record round is only the fourth "seventy" to go on the record books of the Seniors. Two years ago at the first championship, L. A. Lewis, of Vancouver, who won the title, had a 78 and a 79 for a total of 157 for the thirty-six holes. The same year Josiah Collins of Seattle, made a 77 on the second eighteen holes. Last year when the tournament was staged at Colwood none of the seniors got under the eighties.

Van Tuyl's score was the glistening point in a great day of golf. One hundred and thirty-seven golfers actually started in the qualifying round, twenty-three finding it necessary to scratch their entries. Ideal weather favored the veterans as they followed the little white pills over the rocks, fairways and greens.

Seattle qualified the most men for the main championship. Six representatives from the Queen City will begin play to-day in the first round. Victoria and Vancouver each have four standard-bearers, while Portland has two. Both the previous title-holders, Lewis and Collins, entered the charmed circles, and are expected to make a great bid for their second championships.

Those who qualified with their scores are as follows: F. V. Van Tuyl, Seattle, 76; J. E. Wilson, Victoria 80; T. S. Libby, Seattle, 80; R. W. Gibson, Victoria, 83; J. Sobey, Seattle, 84; J. R. Waghorn, Vancouver, 85; O. J. West, Seattle, 86; J. A. Byerley, Portland, 86; C. S. Battle, Vancouver, 86; L. H. Hardie, Victoria, 86; F. Nation, Victoria, 86; J. Ogilvie, Vancouver, 87; C. O. Brunn Portland, 87; L. A. Lewis, Vancouver, 87; J. Collins, Seattle, 87 and J. R. Stirrat, Seattle, 88; C. H. Jones and E. B. Atwater of Spokane; W. W. Baker of Walla Walla, and P. Criddle of Victoria, tied with Stirrat for the sixteenth place in the qualifying round, but in the draw Stirrat won.

The draw for the first round today bring Van Tuyl against Battle while Collins will meet West. Lewis is paired with Waghorn, and Brunn meets Sobey. Lippy is to play Nation; Gibson plays Ogilvie; Stirrat meets Byerley, and Hardie couples with Wilson.

In addition to the main championship which is for the Barnard Cup, there will be a championship at stake in each of the three classes. The eight lowest cores in the A, B and C classes, after the sixteen were taken out for the main championship, meet in first round matches today.

IN CLASS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Those who qualified for the class championship with their scores were as follows:

Class A, over sixty-five years of age—A. C. Atwater, Spokane 88; J. E. Miller, Victoria, 91; D. E. Fredericks, Seattle, 93; Col. J. O. Wilson, Victoria, and J. L. Sharpstein, Seattle 95, and C. F. Todd, Victoria; S. Scofield, Seattle, and F. H. Graves, Spokane, 96.

Class B, over sixty years and under sixty-five—W. W. Baker, Walla Walla, and P. Criddle Victoria, 88; J. A. Sayward, Victoria, 88; H. S. Griggs, Spokane, 90; Dr. Boyle, Vancouver, 91, and A. A. Morrison, Portland; W. J. Taaffe, Vancouver, and F. R. Stewart, Vancouver, 92.

The remaining ninety-six players have been formed into flights of eight irrespective of their class, and will play off. Twelve flights, in addition to the four championship flights, were necessary to take care of all the players.

FIRST ROUND TO-DAY

To-day the first round in the various flights is being played, while tomorrow the semi-finals will be held. On Friday the finals and international team matches will be decided.

The best net scores in yesterday's round were as follows: A class, E. C. Atwater, Spokane, 68; B class, F. Nation Victoria, 66, and B class, C. D. Brunn, Portland, 67.

The best gross scores were as follows: A class, R. W. Gibson, Victoria; B class, F. R. Van Tuyl, Seattle; C class, J. E. Wilson, Victoria.

Six Teams Favored For First Division Again This Season

Whether Wests and Vets Will Enter is Problematical; May Be Four Clubs

Veterans Busy With Their Inter-city Eleven; May Open Season September 26

It is possible that six teams will again compose the First Division of the Victoria and District Football Association. At a meeting held last night in the Y.M.C.A. the idea of a four-team league did not meet with much favor, and a resolution was put through enforcing a six-team limit.

Events, however, may prove that four teams will be all that can be secured. The teams mentioned for the First Division last night were Esquimalt Veterans, Victoria United, United Services, Sons of England and Victoria West. The Victoria United is the name which the North Wards have adopted.

WESTS MAY BE OUT

The Wests, however, were not represented at the meeting, and Jack Youson, their manager, has expressed a desire to retire for several years. If he goes through with his desire this year there may be no West eleven, which would be a sad blow to football. The Wests have been prominent contenders for senior honors for a score of years.

Another club which may not be able to field a team in the First Division are the Veterans. They have committed themselves to the inter-city league, and are busy signing the star players in town. They may find the job of handling this club too heavy to bother with an eleven of lesser ability.

ENTRIES IN BY SEPT. 14

Just what clubs will be in the running will be known on September 14 when all entries must be in. Alex Robertson, for many years a prominent leader in local and provincial soccer, accepted the office of secretary, temporarily, and all entries must be made to him at 929 Agnes Street. Mr. Robertson's telephone number is 6523L.

Entries for the Wednesday League must be in at the same time as the First Division.

No date was set last night for the opening of the First Division, but it is expected that the clubs will be ready to get away on September 26.

All clubs must file the $7.50 league entry fee, a $10 guarantee that the team will fulfill all the scheduled dates, and their affiliation with the B.C.F.A. paid.

The association decided to again take five per cent. of the gate receipts of league games to go towards the league expenses and the buying of medals or cups at the completion of the season.

Vancouver Lacrosse Teams May Perform Here on Labor Day

If satisfactory arrangements can be made two Vancouver lacrosse teams will play here on Labor Day in the first games of a home and home series for the British Columbia championship. At a meeting of the Victoria and District Lacrosse Association held last night the Victoria Capitols, senior league champions and the Sons of Canada, intermediate titleholder, expressed their desire to cross sticks with the mainland champions. Should the games be played on September 7 they should draw a large crowd as it will be the first time a Vancouver team had played here for some years.

The meeting went on record last night as being opposed to any all-star team represetning the Province, and favored the playing of the individual team which won the title in the Canadian play-offs and also in the Olympic games.

New York Will See Big Motorboat Races

New York, Aug. 26.—New York today welcomed the vastest and most expensive fleet of pleasure and racing craft in its history for the annual gold cup regatta for motor craft opening to-morrow. There are 289 entries for the events of the four-day programme.

To-morrow's events will be preliminary to the major racing contests starting on Friday at Manhasset Bay. Twenty-five races in all will be staged during the regatta. New speed records are generally predicted.

MEXICAN BATTLER LOSES

Vernon, Cal., Aug. 26.—Lou Paluso, Salt Lake lightweight, took a decision over Johnny La Marr, Los Angeles Mexican boxer, in a ten-round fight here last night.

Jackie Sherman of Los Angeles managed to weather eight rounds with Bud Ridley, Seattle featherweight, who easily won the decision in the eight-round semi-windup.

SIEGEL WINS MAIN EVENT

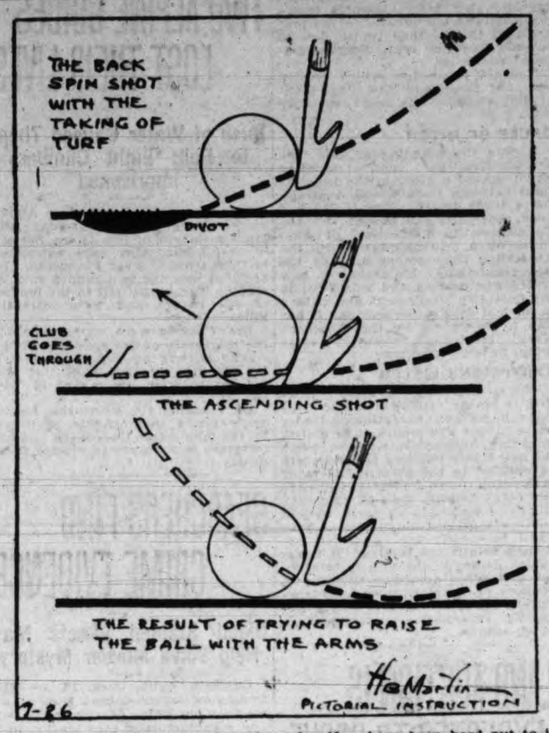
San Francisco, Aug. 26.—Mike Siegel, Oakland lightweight, won a ten-round decision over Tuffy Wing of Portland in the main event of a boxing card here last night. Frankie Murphy, New Orleans, and Joe Hughes, San Francisco middleweight, went eight rounds to a draw in the semi-final.

There are four heavyweights who can beat Jack Dempsey to-day, says Jimmy DeForest. . . . But there doesn't seems to be one who can persuade him to fight.

Pictorial Golf Instruction

By H. B. Martin

The Back Spin and Ascending Shot



Since the ribbed club has been barred golfers have been hard put to it for a substitute. Many became so dependent on the "stoppum" club that they forgot the old back spin shot or at least were out of practice.

The back spin is put on the ball by the club descending and making the contact before it reaches the bottom of the arc. The divot is always taken after the ball is hit. Another popular type of approach is the ascending shot. This is of course without any back spin whatsoever. The ball is merely hit into the air and permitted to drop and roll. There is always a roll and quite frequently too much as considerable overspin is put on the ball. To make this the club reaches the bottom of the arc at the moment it connects with the ball. There is no suggestion of a lift as the club goes through along the ground, the loft taking care of the rise of the ball.

The shot we all make occasionally, some of us quite frequently is the one where the clubhead takes the ball after it has reached the bottom of the swing and starts on its way up. This is the result of looking up which pulls the hands up, or it is done by duffers who try to make the ball rise in the air instead of letting the club do it.

Large Catches Of Salmon Being Made All Over Island

Brentwood, Comox Bay and Campbell River Seemed to Be Favored Spots

Salmon fishing in Vancouver Island waters is still very good, according to reports received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Good-sized fish are being hooked at the favorite spots of the anglers, including such places as Brentwood, Campbell River and Comox Bay. After the recent rains trout fishing should also be good at Shawnigan Lake and Cowichan Bay. Many fish are also being taken off Brotchie Ledge and Vancouver Island.

At Brentwood several big fish have been hooked on light lines including a fifty-three-pounder, which was caught by Jack Lah Houquet of Victoria. Fishing there has been exceptionally good all year, and will no doubt continue until the end of the season.

CAUGHT A WHOPPER

During this month at Campbell River there have been thirteen fish pulled out over thirty pounds, and these have all been caught on a rod and line. The largest fish taken this year topped the scales at fifty-eight-and-one-half pounds, and was caught by Dr. J. A. Wiborn, the well-known Tuna Club angler of Catalina Island. Dr. Wiborn is president of the Tyee Club of Campbell River.

It has been quite a good season at Comox Bay. Between twenty-five and thirty boats are out each day, and an average of twelve and fourteen fish taken. The biggest fish caught so far weighed thirty-eight pounds.

At Campbell River an organization named the Tyee Club has been formed. They recognize only fish taken by amateur fishermen on rod and reel. Moreover, the fish must be caught by no other assistance than a gaff. Bronze medals are given for fish taken over thirty pounds, while gold awards are made for those over fifty pounds. All fish of this weight must be taken on a rod and reel before a medal can be secured.

HEAVY BOY GOES OUT

Portland, Ore., Aug. 26.—George Lamson, Omaha heavyweight, knocked out the 211-pound Washington State College candidate for heavyweight honors, Chub Crawford, in the fifth round of their ten-round fight here last night. Lamson knocked Crawford down for nine counts in the second and also in the third. Lamson weighed 188.

Tommy O'Brien, ex-Pacific Northwest amateur bantamweight champion, won a furious ten-round decision over Danny Edwards, colored, of Oakland, Cal.

HOOKED A BEAUTY

Here's a fifty-pound salmon caught at Campbell River recently by Dr. J. A. Wiborn of Catalina Island, on the right of the picture. Fishing has been exceptionally good at the river this year, several record catches being made.

Comments On Fine Teamwork Displayed At Bisley Meeting

Lieut.-Col. Street, in Charge of Canadian Team, Speaks on Fine Results

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—"The shooting at Bisley this year was remarkable, but what was even more praiseworthy, was the splendid teamwork displayed," said Lieut.-Colonel D. R. Street, officer in charge of the 1925 Canadian Bisley team, who has returned to Ottawa from overseas.

"So fine was the general excellence of the men's shooting that it was a difficult problem to make selections for the big cup matches," continued the colonel.

He was of the opinion that the Lee-Enfield was now in every way the equal of the Ross rifle for work on the ranges.

In winning the famous Kolapore and McKinnon Cups as well as many individual prizes, the team had a record at which the country could be proud, particularly as the scoring for the two major events was the highest in many years.

One Australian and Spanish Team Left In Brookline Tennis

Both French Teams Lost Yesterday; Lacoste and Borotra Surprised

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 26. — N. White and L. L. Thalheimer, Texan star, staged the biggest upset of the day during the second round matches of the national doubles championship tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club yesterday, when they eliminated the ranking Davis Cup team, composed of Rene Lacoste and J. Borotra, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 5-7 and 6-4.

Their victory, due largely to White's terrific service, will bring them against the Kinsey brothers, defending champions, of San Francisco, to-day.

William T. Tilden II, national champion, and his younger protege, A. L. (Sandy) Wiener, of Philadelphia, eliminated the other French Davis Cup team, Max Decugis and Jacques Brugnon, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2.

TWO OUTSIDERS REMAIN

The elimination of the Frenchmen leaves only two foreign threats, Australia, represented by Gerald L. Patterson and J. B. Hawkes, and Spain, represented by Manuel Alonso and Eruard Flaquer.

Patterson and Hawkes had little difficulty in defeating Howard Voshell, Kew Gardens, N.Y., and S. Chapin Sr., Springfield, Mass., yesterday, but Brian I. C. Norton and Wray Brown of St. Louis gave Alonso and Flaquer all sorts of competition before the Spaniards emerged victorious, 7-9, 6-0, 6-1, 7-5.

Nat Niles of Boston and Raymond Casey of San Francisco were forced to default their match yesterday to Lucien Williams and George M. Lott, Jr., Chacago. Casey was stricken with appendicitis and was operated on Monday night.

Spencers Will Meet Tillicums at Royal Athletic To-night

To-night at the Royal Athletic Park Spencers and the Tillicums will meet in a Commercial League game, starting at 6 o'clock sharp.

At present the departmentals are leading the league and have cinched a place in the play-off for the McGavin Cup. Should the clubmen come through with a victory this evening they will have a chance of making the series. This is the final game of the league schedule.

Refusal To Crown La Barba Champion Considered a Joke

Los Angeles Papers Laugh at Attitude of New York Boxing Commission

Los Angeles, Aug. 26.—Little surprise and no consternation was evinced in sporting circles here over the action of the New York Boxing Commission to-day in declining to recognize Fidel La Barba as flyweight champion of the world.

George Blake, manager of the nineteen-year-old Los Angeles lad, who last Saturday convinced Harry Ertle, Dempsey-Carpentier referee, that he was a better man than Frankie Genaro, claimant to the flyweight crown, made but one mild comment before departing on a vacation trip. He said he thought the New York commission's attitude was unfair.

Sporting writers on the various papers here referred to it as "the New York boxing commission's weekly joke," or confessed a humorous interest in what they termed the august antics of "the joke body of the sporting world."

La Barba who Monday turned down an offer from Jimmy Deforest, New York promoter, because his manager insisted he must rest a full month before fighting again, said nothing, and went over to Santa Catalina Island.

Two More Records Claimed by Borg

Stockholm, Aug. 26.—Arne Borg on Monday swam 500 metres in 6 minutes 14 2-5 seconds, and yesterday made 800 yards in 10 minutes and 37 seconds. It is claimed that both these figures constitute world records.

English Cricket

London, Aug. 26.—Maurice Tate, brilliant Sussex bowler, by taking four wickets for forty-two runs in the first innings and six wickets for 101 runs in the match against Northamptonshire has brought his wickets for the season to more than 200. He has created a record, inasmuch as this is the third successive season that he has taken more than 200 wickets and also scored more than 1,000 runs. In the game, Sussex won by 168 runs.

Nottinghamshire beat Gloucestershire by six wickets.

Leicestershire defeated Glamorgan by three wickets.

Warwickshire beat Middlesex in the first innings.

Two other matches, Surrey-Yorkshire and Essex-Hampshire were drawn.

Three of Four Top Teams Suffer Loss

Washington and Philadelphia go Under in American League, While Pittsburg Received Bump in National; Giants Manage to Win and Cut Down Pirates' Lead; Cleveland Pulls Triple Play; Bob Meusel Hits Two Homers

New York, Aug. 26. Recession of National League waves tossed up in New York by a steaming Pirate crew to-day permitted baseball fans to turn their major interest once more to an American League battle of thrills and spils between Philadelphia and Washington separated by a single game only. The Athletics in their worst slump of the year, yesterday dropped their sixth game in eight starts to Cleveland with the score 4-3, but the champion Senators were helpless before the pitching of Gaston in St. Louis, connecting for only five safeties and taking the dust of an 8-2 defeat. Both teams conclude their western invasion on Sunday. They will then come to a more definite settlement of the dispute in a crucial series at Washington September 1 and 2 and Philadelphia 7, 8 and 9.

The Pirates, fresh from their sweeping victory over New York, ran into cross-currents at Boston where the Braves, fighting to emerge from the cellar, tossed back the pennant-bound craft 2-1. A Giant castoff, Jess Barnes, limited the Pittsburg outfit to six hits.

WANTED TO FIGHT

The Giants thrust back the challenge of Cincinnati 7-6, cutting Pittsburg's lead to five games. Ross Young flared up at Pitcher Donohue after being hit on the arm with a pitched ball.

Young swarmed out to the pitcher's box and aimed a return blow at the hurler, but Umpire Quigley turned the diamond into a temporary gridiron by tackling the Giant player at the knees, lifting him in his arms and then banishing him from the park along with Donohue.

Brooklyn and St. Louis had it out for fourth place and the Cardinals lost the decision 5-4 as the result of timely rescue pitching by Jess Petty and a winning clout by his battery mate, Hank Deberry, in the ninth.

In the other National League game the Cubs and Phillies put on a long range firing duel which dented the Quaker city field with thirty-seven torrid shots, including five homers. Chicago brought forth the most base-hit ammunition to win with twenty-two safeties 19-10.

Two homers by Bob Meusel—his twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth of the season—liberated the Yankees from a five-game losing streak at the expense of the White Sox 7-4, while the Red Sox resigned to Detroit after a nine-run rally by the Tigers in the opening inning, 14-4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—The Chicago Cubs pounded four local hurlers for 22 hits to-day, and by trimming the Phillies 19 to 10 went into sixth place in the league standing. Keen was knocked out of the box in the first inning, but Kaufmann held the Fletcher men in check while the Cubs were scoring in every innings but two.

DODGERS NOSE OUT CARDS

Brooklyn, N.Y., Aug. 26.—Hank DeBerry's single with the bases filled in the ninth, scored Dick Cox with the run that gave the Robins a 5 to 4 victory over the Cardinals yesterday. The victory carried Brooklyn within a point of fuorth place.

Duster Mails started for the Cardinals and gave way to Allan Sothoron after pitching six innings. Tiny Osborne was the first pitcher used by the Robins. He allowed only one hit until the seventh, when he became wild and was relieved by Jess Petty. In the fifth Fournier hit his twenty-first home run of the season.

GIANTS FINALLY WIN

New York, Aug. 26.—The Giants strengthened their hold on second place yesterday by winning the first game of the series with Cincinnati, 7 to 6. Catcher Hartley's hitting was the big factor in New York's victory. He doubled in the fourth and scored on Nehf's single. He cleared the bases with a triple in the fifth and scored the winning run in the eighth on Frisch's single.

MANN'S BAT BEAT LEADERS

Boston, Aug. 26.—Mann's hitting was responsible for Boston's 2 to 1 victory over the league-leading Pittsburg Pirates at Braves' Field yesterday. After Welch singled in the first inning, he was sent across the plate with the Braves' first run when Mann tripled to the score board. In the sixth, Gautreau's single, Welch's sacrifice and Mann's base hit gave Boston its winning run.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit, Aug. 26.—Detroit walloped Boston yesterday 14 to 4 in the series opener, cutting loose in the first inning to score nine runs and send Zahniser to the showers. The Easterners treated the crowd to a rare double play in the seventh, when Rigney doubled to deep centre, Bassler was on second and Haney on first. Haney was on Bassler's heels as they trotted across the rubber, to be tagged out by Stokes after Flagstead had relayed the ball to the plate via Rothrock.

YANKEES FIND HITTING EYE

Chicago, Aug. 26.—New York bunched hits yesterday and easily defeated Chicago, 7 to 4, in the first game of the series. Thurston, who started for the locals, was driven off the mound in the first inning. Kerr checked the hitting until the third inning, when the Yanks scored two more runs. Edwards, the third pitcher to go on the hill for Chicago, pitched a better game, but was touched for two runs, one of which was a homer by Meusel in the seventh inning, it being his twenty-fifth of the season. He knocked out his twenty-fourth off Kerr in the third. Jones pitched well for the visitors, especially in the pinches.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark & Company Limited).—Mixed movements again ruled fn the day's market activities and irregularity was the general order of things.

Money renewed and ruled firm at 4½ per cent, and may have been one of the chief causes in influencing some of the selling pressure. In the day's news many constructive factors, as well as some items of an unfavorable nature [illegible] week's Iron Age report was a bit more encouraging, car loadings again exceeding the billion mark. Both Reading and New York Central's July earnings were of a favorable interpretation, but the St. Paul's showing was most likely a keen disappointment, while the oil markets, both refined and crude, showed further revisions downward in many sections. Moon Motors announced new prices ranging from $50 to $250 lower, and the situation in the anthracite fields remains unchanged, with the probability of no interference from official sources.

New York, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The evening stock market edition of The Wall Street Journal says: United States Steel was the leader of another vigorous forward movement in the general list to-day. Under cover of its strength, considerable distribution appeared to be in progress in other recent industrial favorites like American Can, General Motors, White Motors.

Marland, the Pan-American's and other active oils were also heavily sold. But the impressive action of Steel com., and the continued demand for various representative rails imparted a buoyant tone to the market as a whole. Atlantic Coast Line, Southern Railway, Seaboard and Wabash attained the highest levels of their market careers, while good sized gains were scored by N. Y. Central, Louisville and Nashville, Norfolk and Western and other investment issues.

Equipments were in special demand on the theory that the growing prosperity of the railroads assures larger inquiries for locomotives and cars later in the year. Baldwin headed the forward movement in this group.

Studebaker also came to life, moving up 1 1-2 points to 46 3-4. Wright Aero displayed special strength, moving up two points to 30 on the expectation of early announcement regarding a working arrangement with the Fokker Aeroplane interests in Europe.

Int. Paper gained 2 points, responding to a statement that company was conducting negotiations with Power Corporation of N.Y., regarding water power development in the northern part of the state.

J. S. Bache & Co. point out that there has been little public participation in the metals. Hence they are in better position to withstand reaction when the general market becomes unsettled.

American Smelting continues in strong hands, the firm continues, "An increase in the dividend rate to $7 is expected before the end of the year. Kennecott's large accumulation took place between 50 and 55. The stock is only fractionally higher now. An increase in the dividend to $4 is also expected here. Cerro de Pasco, always one of the low cost producers, and for the last few years in a strong financial position, should not be overlooked.

"American metals is another American smelting in a small way, and has been under continuous accumulation for the last six months. Anaconda's market sponsorship is in aggressive hands and advance in the price of copper to above 15c, should find this issue among the copper leaders."

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark and Co. Ltd.) — Wheat: Distinct weakness prevailed throughout the session, reports that Spring wheat was being worked to Chicago and indications that the gradual enlargement of the movement northwest was likely to encounter a waning milling demand were probably the indirect cause for sharp setback. Much of the selling was credited to tired holders. East was credited with covering freely on dips. Sentiment was generally bearish and the market absolutely void of adequate buying power. Some better mention of the export demand for nearby wheat was noted, but the trade paid little attention.

Liverpool closed relatively steady, while cash wheat on the other side was firm. Sustained heaviness in the yellow cereal also acted as a depression in wheat. Until the market shows some sign of settling prices will be erratic.

Corn: Heavy selling credited to a prominent commission house featured the September and December delivery, prices worked sharply lower with all deliveries selling at the lowest levels on the crop. The country was reported as offering corn a little more freely, and the general tenor of crop advices was bearish. Shorts were apparently the best buyers of corn on the way. The market will continue to be dominated materially by weather and crop news for the next few weeks.

Oats sagged with other grains. On dips fair commission house buying developed, but the market failed to hold. The movement of oats from the interior keeps up well and is in excess of last year. Commercial demand fairly active with heavy sales being made the last week for foreign account.

Rye decidely heavy, undertone and dropped sharply, there was little in the way of support noted. The Northwest [illegible] Canadian rye to come here [illegible] and this news tended [illegible] urage many of the holders [illegible] sales placed at 150,000 bushels by Seaboard.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire).—Wheat market worked somewhat lower with prices showing net loss 2 to 2½ on scattered liquidation, and stop loss orders were uncovered. A local operator was credited with being good seller. Scattered buying on resting orders strengthened market temporarily at times. Market recuperated early losses on buying by local shorts and scattered commission houses, but with outside support light. Reports of 300,000 bushels Duluth No. 2 northern, had been bought at Duluth for shipment to Chicago. Corn scattered liquidation broke prices into new lows for the crop. General commission houses were persistent sellers in small way with support limited to resting orders mostly. Do not feel friendly to market and believe prices will work still lower from here, but would sell only on a fair rally.

DUNWELL MEETING CLEARING THE AIR

Shareholders of the Dunwell Mines are in annual meeting at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, as a result of which it is expected that uncertainty about the mining situation in the north will be dispelled.

According to intimations from the Stewarts, shareholders this afternoon will be given a majority representation on the directorate of the company.

The new stock issue at $1 a share, bringing the total share issue of the company up to 700,000 from 250,000, is also being dealt with. By this new issue it is planned to raise enough money to enable the mine to operate and hold the control here. Offer from a Toronto banking firm was made for the mine but has been turned down by the directors. This offer involved taking control to Toronto, listing the stock on the Eastern exchanges and operation of the mine by the firm's own organization, which is handling other properties.

The better feeling which is expected to follow to-day's meeting here was reflected in a higher price for Dunwell on the B.C. market to-day.

Knicker Skirts Join Trek North As Shooting Opens

London, Aug. 26. — "The glorious 12th of August," and this last week-end, marking the opening of the shooting season in Scotland and the Northern sections of England, saw one of the greatest pilgrimages northward from London since the war and one in which more Americans than ever participated. During the last few years the sport has attracted a great number of shots from across the Atlantic and many of the best moors have been leased to Americans.

This year's trek to the game country also was marked by a larger proportion of women who have heretofore usually been content to accompany the shooting parties as spectators. The newest idea is the knicker skirt, which appears to be the same as the fashionable cross-over skirt, but really consists of knickers beneath two straight panels.

PRIZE CORN—F. L. Day lives on a farm near Topeka, Kas. When nobody would believe that his corn was as tall as he claimed it was, he had this photograph taken. He is five feet ten inches tall, and his son, standing on his shoulder, is five feet tall. The corn tops both of them.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Aug. 26—The wheat market evidenced nervous and erratic tendencies to-day and while the range in values was only about 3 cents, prices were up and down several times. October delivery, after opening fractionally higher at 143 to 142⅜, closed at 140⅝, a net decline of two cents. December closed 1⅞ down at 136⅝ and May 2⅜ off at 140⅛. Trade volume was fairly large at times, but the market was generally dull and draggy.

The coarse grain marekts were mostly dull, although there was a fair buying of oats and barley. Prices were again affected by the weakness of wheat. Prices went up about one cent on the local cash wheat market despite the fact that there was practically no business done.

The cash coarse grain market was dull.

Winipeg, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: Market displayed a heavy tone throughout the session and closed at the bottom showing losses of 2 to 2⅜ cents for the day. Liverpool was firmer than trade expected considering the decline of our two cents on this side yesterday. Unsettled weather in the United Kingdom was a firming factor there. Trade volume was fairly large at times but market was dull and draggy and displayed no recuperative powers. Exporters doing nothing. There was fair local spreading buying October and selling December. Seaboard reported that sharp break in Canadian wheat premiums yesterday had enabled wheat to be worked for export with sales in all positions of fair volume. There appeared very little new business. There were twenty-seven cars of new wheat inspected in the morning. Weather map continued favorable in western provinces. Market has had a good recession but looks like going lower and we continue to advise caution on buying side.

Coarse grains: There was fair buying of oats and barley at times but markets were more or less dull, and followed the trend of wheat, closing at the lowest.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Pit Wire)—Wheat opened fractionally higher on scattered buying principally for export accounts but met with heavy selling by long interests. There was also noticeable increase in hedging pressure. There was fair support at all times but very bearish sentiment predominates and market worked gradually lower, closing close to low prices. The buying would indicate fair volume of export business, some of which was from the Pacific Coast. Market will need constant support as movement of new wheat increases.

"HEARTS ADRIFT"

By MILDRED BARBOUR

(Copyright by Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

ANOTHER ACTOR IN THE DRAMA

At Bannister's bachelor dinner that night, Tony Patterson's interest was drawn to a fellow guest who sat directly across the table from him.

The man had arrived late and in the general and somewhat hilarious introductions, Patterson had not caught his name, but his appearance was sufficient to arouse curiosity.

He was handsome in a heavy, rather dark way. He carried himself with distinction, and his clothes were almost foppish in their meticulous tailoring. A single eyeglass dangled from a broad, black ribbon that crossed his white shirt front.

But it was his eyes that interested Patterson most. They were the most world-weary eyes the latter had ever seen, and he had been in the strange cities of the globe where the bored and the disillusioned, the satiated and sinning foregather—Shanghai, Port Said, Singapore, Budapest.

He turned to his neighbor and asked:

"Who is the chap directly across from us—the one with the eyeglass?"

"Oh, that's Cartwright—Stanley Cartwright," the man replied. "If you don't belong to this town, the name may not mean much to you, but it's something to conjure with here. His old man left him mighty well fixed with this world's goods and he contracted a marriage with one of the richest girls in society. She doesn't care much about the social game, but I'll say Stan does enough for both of them. He has a roving eye where pretty girls are concerned. Also he boasts that he's had every experience except Death." He ended with a laugh.

"He looks it," Patterson responded with a shrug, and turned to other topics.

Later that evening, however, Cartwright singled him out in the smoking room.

"Bannister's been telling me about you. Mighty interesting being a globe-trotter, eh?"

"Sometimes," shrugged Patterson, "at others a bit lonely."

Cartwright drew deeply on his cigar.

"I envy you. Always keen for travel, but unfortunately tied down with a wife and two youngsters. A sketchy trip to Europe occasionally is about all I can manage, and that's an infernal bore, because my wife's only interested in old cathedrals and the crazy tombs of some fellows who were famous for writing a poem or painting a picture. She can't see the night life of Paris and Vienna—gives her a headache and shocks her."

The man irritated Patterson. He replied briefly:

"Still, you don't look as though you'd suffered from lack of the gay side."

"Hardly! You can always get it if you're keen enough for it. As a matter of fact, I've done too much of it. Looking forward now to the novelties Gehenna can offer."

"You'll probably not care about that," returned Patterson, with a shrug. "You'll find it entirely too common."

"Well, where I'm going, I'll be in good company," the other replied with a laugh.

"I'm sure of that," was Patterson's reply. To change the subject, he remarked:

"It's refreshing to see a chap like Bannister, don't you think? He's full of enthusiasm about everything. Life looks pretty good to him."

"It won't last long—not with the girl he's going to marry day after to-morrow."

Patterson frowned.

"I met her this evening. I thought she was very lovely."

"Oh, she's a beauty, no mistaking that. But spoiled. She'll lead him a dance all right. He's not the one to handle her. She needs a master."

Several years later, when the lives of all the people in this little drama were hopelessly twisted, Patterson recalled that careless sentence of Cartwright's, just as he recalled the pictured face of Patricia Fleming and the radiance in Paul Bannister's eyes after he had kissed his fiancee good night.

At the time, he felt only a bit of repulsion toward the man who spoke of his intimates and their relations so indifferently. He looked at his eyes, weary, yet holding a strange fire, under tired, drooping lids, and wondered how much was pose and how much actual satiety from gifts which the gods had tumbled too abundantly at his feet.

Involuntarily his eyes sought a mirror for confirmation of his own sense of cleanness and freshness. He knew that he had more money than Cartwright could possibly have, that he possessed everything to spoil him, to make a blase idler out of him. He breathed a fervent prayer that he could escape the almost inevitable curse.

His reflection showed him a man, young, strong, with a body that clean living and athletics had made a fit subject for a sculptor. Thick, dark hair waved back from a well-proportioned brow. His eyes were grey and clear under well shaped, dark brows. A clean, firm mouth with a little, humorous curve at one corner, and belying it a chin like granite with a cleft in the centre. He was the type of masculine specimen which made women's eyes follow him and men hesitate before presenting him to the girls they fancied.

THE FIRST RIFT IN THE LUTE

Madge was bored.

She had been married to Paul Bannister for six months. It was a rainy, Winter evening and she was at home alone.

They had had tickets for the theatre, a play she particularly wanted to see, a "first night" as a matter of fact, when all society turned out. She had dressed with care in a new and elaborate evening gown which her modiste assured her had just arrived from Paris and would have no duplicate.

Then, during dinner, an emergency call had come from the hospital for Dr. Bannister.

"You're not really going," she had exclaimed in astonishment, when he had excused himself hastily from the table.

"Of course! I must go."

"But that's so absurd," she protested. "Any one of the other staff doctors can take the case."

"Madge, this is my duty. You wouldn't want me to refuse in a case of life and death for the sake of a paltry play. It's unthinkable."

"But you don't even know the name of the patient," she returned petulantly. "It may be —— just anybody."

"What of it?" he demanded a trifle sharply for him. "It's an operation in my line."

She sighed and shrugged, but couldn't resist a final protest.

"We're both dressed; it's such a shame."

"It won't take me a minute to change. And you can take the tickets and call up someone to go with you."

"At this eleventh hour Hardly."

"Ask Patricia. She's sensible. She'll be glad to accompany you, if she isn't already engaged."

Madge elevated her pretty chin.

"Go to the theatre at night with another woman and no escort? No thanks! I've never gone unaccompanied before, and I won't start now, even if I am married to a doctor. I'd rather stay home than have everybody say that I had a husband who was indifferent to my plesure."

"Madge ——" he was beginning pleadingly, when the door bell trilled. "That's Dr. Clarke already. He said he'd stop for me. I must go, sweetheart. I'm sorry really for your sake."

He came around the table and tried to kiss her, but she turned her face away childishly.

"You probably haven't time to kiss me. You'd better go."

He made a despairing gesture, but he went, hurt and uncertainty written large upon his face.

Madge finished dinner petulantly. She ordered the coffee brought to the drawing-room and then refused it when it came, finding a childish satisfaction in doing so.

Wandering to the piano, she played a bar or two, ended with a deliberate discord and sat staring at her own reflection in the mirror above.

She was a shining, lovely vision in a cloth of silver gown that wrapped her like a sheath. The pearls around her throat were not more white and satiny than the flesh they adorned. A Spanish comb of pearls flared from her superbly dressed hair. But her lovely scarlet mouth was twisted in a pout —— a disfigurement which her vanity instantly recognized and springing up, with a petulant gesture, she went to the elephone and called Patricia Fleming's number.

Patricia answered the call herself. She had a soft, sweet voice with a trilling note in it that reminded one of a Summer morning with a meadow lark singing high in the sun.

"Thank Heaven, you're at home," Madge exclaimed, "I scarcely hoped to find you at this hour."

"I gave the servants the evening off—there's a grand ball somewhere, and they've been excited for weeks about it. So I'm still at work preparing my simple supper —— and realizing more and more distressfully that I'm no chef. I think I'll raise my cook's wages to-morrow out of pure respect for her art."

"You're an absurd thing," Madge scoffed. "You let your servants walk all over you. Why didn't you make them prepare your dinner before they left?"

Patricia laughed.

"Do you know I never thought of it."

"Well, anyway, I'm glad you're home. I want you to hurry up and dress and go to the theatre with me."

There was astonishment in Patricia's reply:

"But where is Paul?"

"Oh, gone to the hospital, of course," Madge returned impatiently. "It's always the same story when I particularly want to do anything. But this is the first time I've ever been disappointed at the last minute. He never considers my pleasure."

"But Madge dear, the hospital at night means an emergency operation and an operation may mean ——"

"For Heaven's sake, don't you tell me all that. Paul went into it thoroughly enough. The point is, I want to go to the theatre, and if you won't go with me, I'll call Dave Osgood, or Jim Reeves, or somebody."

"I'll go," said Patricia instantly. "Madge, you musn't even think of such a reckless thing."

VIOLENT WIND HIT TOWN IN CALIFORNIA

One Man Probably Fatally Injured in Calipatria; Several Others Hurt

Buildings Blown Down; Loss Is Estimated at Close to $150,000

Brawley, Cal., Aug. 26.—Several persons were injured, one probably fatally, and property damage estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000, was caused by a storm which struck Calipatria, ten miles north of here, last night.

Fourteen of the town's larger business buildings and residences were either demolished or badly damaged, and one was damaged in a minor way.

Louise Venezuela, struck on the head by flying timbers, is said to be at the point of death. Two others injured are being cared for in an improvised hospital and a search of the wreckage is being made for more victims.

STATION DESTROYED

The buildings demolished included the Southern Pacific station and the Globe Grain and Milling Company's plant.

Electric wires went down when the storm hit the town about 6.30 p.m., and after that the work of searching for possible victims was conducted with great difficulty in pitch darkness.

WATERWORKS TO BE DISCUSSED BY MAYOR PENDRAY

Acquisition of the Goldstream waterworks by the city will be explained by Mayor Carl Pendray to-morrow afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, when he will address the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club on conditions which impelled the city to expropriation.

As the question is of great public interest, the public is invited by President Mayhew to hear the address, which will commence at 1 o'clock. Mayor Pendray proposes to outline conditions which compelled the city's action, the success in obtaining favorable price and terms from the Esquimalt company, and the benefits assured the city in the next few years.

EXEMPTION VOTE ON GRAIN ELEVATOR ON SEPTEMBER 10

Council Passes By-law Granting 63 Years' Freedom From Taxation to Big Plant

On Thursday, September 10, at the Public Market Building, the ratepayers of Victoria will vote on granting exemption from taxation, for sixty-three years, of the terminal elevator at the Ogden Point docks, to be constructed by the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited. The City Council last night selected the date of the referendum after passing the necessary by-law, which will come into effect only if endorsed by the ratepayers.

The agreement with the Panama Pacific Company provides for the construction of a concrete elevator with an initial capacity of from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, to be in readiness to handle the 1926 crop. All the usual equipment of a modern export terminal elevator must be installed by the company this including driers and the special conditioning machinery used by the mots modern terminal elevators.

A specific clause required the exclusive employment of Victoria white labor upon the construction and operation of the elevator, while cancellation of the lease from the Canadian National Railways or insolvency of the company will release the city from necessity of continuing the exemption.

Replying to Alderman Clearihue's criticism of the terms of the exemption, Mayor Pendray stated, "We tried to limit exemption to fifteen years or until the plant showed a profit, but were forced to grant this period by the action of New Westminster, which offered the company exemption for ninety-nine years."

KIWANIANS VISIT PORT ANGELES CLUB

Enjoy Motor Tour to Lake Crescent; Luncheon Programme Provided

Thirty-five Victoria Kiwanians and ladies yesterday visited the flourishing Port Angeles Kiwanis Club, which was sponsored by the Victoria Club several years ago, and were royally entertained. A motor trip to Lake Crescent was a feature of the outing, the splendid drive being greatly enjoyed.

CM At the luncheon the Victorians provided the programme, Mrs. W. D. Todd and Frank Partridge rendering duets and solos. B. C. Nicholas, as spokesman of the Victoria contingent, declared that Victoria and Port Angeles were the twin portals of the Pacific and enjoyed particular traditions of friendship and common interest.

Mr. Nicholas congratulated the operators of the ferry service between the two communities and predicted that the venture would yearly prove more profitable, with the increase in tourist traffic and closer ties between the two cities.

With the rapid growth of business on the Pacific, the future of Port Angeles and Victoria was assured, both being certain to greatly benefit from the westward trend of trade, he pointed out.

'CHILDREN OF DUST' AT PLAYHOUSE IS CLAIMED ONE OF YEAR'S BEST

During the filming of "Children of Dust," a First National picture now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, a serious injury to Frankie Lee, one of the child stars, was averted by the presence of mind of Director Frank Borzage. In directing a scene from a tenement balcony, the railing suddenly gave way precipitating Borzage and Frankie to the stage below. Borzage managed to catch the boy as they fell, taking the brunt of the fall himself. He was laid up for two days with severe bruises and a strained back, but Frankie escaped without a scratch.

Said to have greater appeal than "Humoresque," also directed by Borzage, the faithful depiction of a romance set in a quaint old section of New York brings "Children of Dust" rightful recognition as one of the greatest pictures of the year. The love tale, staring in early childhood, goes through the years with absorbing sequence accentuated by human interest touches to an inspiring climax.

NORMAN KERRY IN ROLE OF VIOLINIST IN COLISEUM FILM

Norman Kerry, violinist!

It had to be done, and the celebrated star of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and ardent lover of "Merry-go-round" had to take a strenuous course in the gentle art of eliciting notes from a fiddle before he was qualified to play his role in "Butterfly," Clarence Brown's Universal filmization of Kathleen Norris's novel, now playing at the Coliseum Theatre.

Kerry was cast as Kronski, the Russian violinist, in the new picture, a dramatic tale of the loves of two sisters and the men they were rivals for. Now, unless a man can really play a little, his violin playing would look very, very artificial on the screen.

So Laura La Plante, who studied a violin for years—and who plays the vivacious flirt and heart-breaker in the Norris tale—was enlisted to teach Kerry the art of bowing and fingering.

He approached the task much in the spirit of the small boy forced to practice his exercises against his will, but finally became interested and now can play several simple melodies. He has even bought a violin, and plans to take further lessons.

The story is enacted by an all-star cast including Miss Le Plante, Norman Kerry, Ruth Clifford, Kenneth Harlan, Margaret Livingston, T. Roy Barnes, Sesare Gravina and Freeman S. Wood, who played the villain in "The Gaiety Girl," Mary Philbin's spectacular King Baggot production. Clarence Brown, who produced the story also directed "The Acquittal" and "The Signal Tower."

DOMINION THEATRE HAS NOVEL IDEA IN SCRIPT BOOK PLAN

"Capitol Entertainment Scrip Books" a novel plan of reducing the cost of motion picture entertainment to the theatre-goer, were placed on sale in Victoria at the Dominion Theatre, Monday, August 24, as well as fifty-six other theatres in various cities of the Dominion, from Montreal to Victoria.

The operating company, the Famous Players' Canadian Corporation, in adopting this unique sales method, plans to further popularize "Capitol Entertainment" in Canada, which now is entering its fifth season and in doing so is making it possible for motion picture theatre patrons to substantially reduce the cost of this favorite form of educational entertainment.

The Scrip Books are of two sizes—a $10 book and a $5 book being sold for $8.50 and $4.50 respectively. The books contain coupons of three denominations, 5 cents, 10 cents and 25 cents. These coupons are detachable and are accepted at the theatre box office the same as money in exchange for admission tickets. The coupons are transferable, permitting several persons to use one book. They also are interchangeable, that is the coupons from the same book will be accepted for admission at the Dominion Theatre as well as the other fifty-six theatres in Canada.

As seasonable gifts to friends in other cities, the Scrip Books will be an answer to that perplexing question, "What shall I send?" when birthdays, anniversaries and the holiday seasons are at hand.

DAVID TORRENCE HAS GENTLEMAN'S PART IN DOMINION FILM

Ernest Torrence has suddenly become the polished gentleman, and he feels—well something like the man who has deserted his plough and has donned his boiled shirt for a day in the city.

"After all the rough neck roles I've had," he says, "I am almost afraid I will trip over my stick."

Tailored suits, smooth shaves and neat haircuts and Torrence have been strangers during most of his movie career. Since he began in "Tol'able David" most of his roles have been of the frontier variety as in "The Covered Wagon," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and "North of 36." In "The Sideshow of Life," "West of the Water Tower" and "The Fighting Coward" he was far from being a fashion model, but now everything seems to be different.

Mrs. Torrence is willing to go out with him in public again. Recently he acquired a wardrobe of the latest mode for his role in "The Dressmaker of Paris" and when he appeared at the Paramount Long Island Studio to begin work as John Bentley in Allan Dwan's production, "Night Life in New York," he could have given the Prince of Wales a few fashion pointers. As a successful business man in this picture he wears everything from a grey felt hat and Raglan shouldered coat to spats.

Torrence is featured with Rod La Rocque, Dorothy Gish and George Hackathorne in the leading roles of the production which is showing this week at the Dominion Theatre. Helen Lee Worthing, former "Follies" beauty, heads the supporting cast. Edgar Selwyn wrote this story of New York's night life especially for the screen.

COLLEEN HERE SOON IN WESTERN COMEDY AT CAPITOL THEATRE

Laughs legitimately lured, and tears, too, are evidence that "The Desert Flower," soon to be seen at the Capitol Theatre, is made of the stuff which makes the heart beat faster and the cheeks glow more brightly. It is healthy, honest comedy drama, free from neuresthenia, and presents chic Colleen Moore in a role that will boost her following tremendously.

All this is gleaned from information received from Hollywood and New York, where the offering had its first showing. It was booked by the local management without delay on the strength of these glowing reports, and with the conviction that anything in which Miss Moore appears is bound to have a wide appeal among patrons of the Capitol Theatre.

Lloyd Hughes is foremost in Miss Moore's support in "The Desert Flower." Irving Cummings directed the offering, which is released through First National.

PROTEST RECEIVES SCANT ATTENTION

Council Shows Little Interest in Legal Threats on Waterworks

Evincing little interest in protests by Frank Higgins, K.C., against expropriation of the Goldstream waterworks system, the City Council last night referred two letters forecasting legal action, on behalf of unnamed clients, to the city solicitor.

Mayor Pendray protested statements by Mr. Higgins to the effect that the Mayor had promised the ratepayers a vote prior to any waterworks action. "Never in all the campaign did I promise anything more than a business like administration. Waterworks matters were never mentioned," he said.

U.S. Committee Studies Sale of Beer in Ontario

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The special committee of the United States Congress appointed to inquire into the workings of the Eighteenth Amendment, now touring Ontario obtaining information on the effect of the sale of 4.4 per cent beer in the province and the working of the temperance law, were the guests here last night at a dinner of the Ontario Prohibition Union.

"We first asked whether 4.4 per cent beer had satisfied those who wanted a stronger alcoholic beverage, and fully ninety-five per cent replied it had not," stated Chairman Grant Hudson, regarding the investigations already made in Western Ontario. "We were told that after a trial, the populace had turned away from it as being no better and more costly than the old 2.5 beer.

"Our next question was whether the sale of 4.4 beer had decreased the sale of bootleg liquor," continued Mr. Hudson. "The universal reply was that it had increased rather than decreased it. We also inquired whether it had weaned the drinkers of hard liquor to the milder beverage, and learned that it had not. In fact, practically every person interviewed declared the whole system most unsatisfactory."
